Capsule Misses Intended Impact Spot 200 Miles

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Astronaut Scott Carpenter, the self-styled wild kid from Colorado who twice flunked out of college, today flew a coldly scientific space trip around the earth with a harrowing finish.

The 37-year-old Navy test pilot met and mastered space problems which Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. did not have to face during the first U.S. manned orbital space flight three months ago. His descent far outside the planned impact area in the Atlantic Ocean was an even tougher test than the space flight of man's ability to conquer nature.

But the things that Carpenter did and saw while whirling three times around the earth at 17,532 miles per hour will give scientists the raw data they need to build America's rocket stairway to the moon.

Carpenter and his Aurora-7 space capsule ran into a variety of unexpected problems.

His protective, 20 pound space suit twice got too warm for comfort. He used a dangerously high amount of hydrogen peroxide fuel while maneuvering his capsule in space. He found that even the special "space food" covered with tasteless, edible coating was apt to be "too crumbly" in the weightlessness of a world without gravity.

His troubles with the fuel supply may mean the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) will have to send another astronaut on a three-orbit flight before undertaking the six or even seven orbit trips expected later this year.

The countdown for the firing of Carpenter's Atlas missile and Mercury capsule space machine was perfect. An early morning haze that appeared a mixture of fog and smoke from swamp fires caused space agency officials to order four short "holds" in the final minutes of the countdown, however.

The engines which generate the Atlas' 360,000 pounds of thrust flamed into life at 7:45 a.m. (EST). The nine-story-high space vehicle clung to the launching pad for an agonizing three seconds before it moved ever faster toward the sky.

The Atlas found the "hoop in the sky" that put Carpenter's space capsule into orbit over Bermuda. It followed almost the same path as Glenn's trailblazing Friendship-7 capsule of Feb. 20.

But Carpenter's return to earth was hair-raising.

The aircraft carrier Intrepid and sister ships and planes waiting to pick Carpenter from the ocean 800 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral did not see his candy-stripe parachute.

The 3,000-degree heat of reentry blacked out all radio communications with the capsule. Worried scientists estimated he should have landed in the ocean at 12:41 p.m. (EST), but there was no signal from him.

The scientists estimated that Aurora-7 overshot the planned target area by about 200 miles and was bobbing in the sea not far off Puerto Rico.

40 TENSE MINUTES

Carpenter performed a series of experiments.

He practiced eating solid food—20 bite-sized chunks of compressed nutrition sealed in a tasteless glaze material. He found that even with the covering, crumbs floating in a weightless space ship are a problem. Once he had to interrupt his radio communications to fish for a loose washer that was floating around his cabin.

MOVED CAPSULE

Carpenter maneuvered his bell-shaped capsule to such an extent that the hydrogen peroxide use for its jets dropped to a dangerously low level. He reported he could change the capsule's "attitude" slightly by merely moving his head and arms.

He saw and photographed

Teener Holds Breath, Drowns In Marin Pool

The 14-year-old son of two University of California professors told friends he could hold his breath under water for two minutes, then died in a Fairfax pool while trying to prove it.

The victim was Robert Fatt of Berkeley, who was attending a picnic at the Marin Town and Country Club with about 350 schoolmates from Garfield Junior High School.

His father, Irving Fatt, is professor of petroleum engineering at University of California He is away in Europe. The boy's mother, Helen, is an associate professor at the university.

Witnesses told Coroner Frank J. Keaton and Asst. Coroner William Bradley that the youngsters swarming in and around the pool were unaware of the tragedy. Even as lifeguards Thomas James Butler of 293 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, and Lloyd Allen Hill of San Francisco pulled the boy from the bottom of the pool, classmates thought Robert was still holding his breath.

Resuscitation attempts by lifeguards, Fairfax Police Officer Lee Perry and Fairfax Fireman Gene Lestinguet and Robert Cortelyou proved futile The boy was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

An autopsy performed at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael showed death was caused

String Of Thefts From Cars Lead Police To Loot, Suspect

A Corte Madera man was arrested last night on suspicion of burglary after a pile of loot found hidden on a San Rafael hillside linked him to a trail of car lootings from Fairfax to San Anselmo.

Held without bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon was Stanley G. Sikorski, 21, who was arrested at his home at 266 Sausalito Street.

The string of theft reports began at 3:30 a.m. yesterday when Sally Vineyard of 154 Scenic Road, Fairfax, told police she heard the window break in her car and saw two men drive away from in front of her home.

Between then and noon yesterday, six persons in Fairfax and two in San Anselmo reported thefts from their cars.

The timetable read as follows:

7:25 a.m.—Perry Paradiso of 17 Ridge Road, Fairfax, reported the front window of his car broken. Nothing was missing, he said, but on the floor of his car was a man's glove which did not belong to him.

7:50 a.m. — Harold Clem, 204 Scenic Road, Fairfax, reported the window of his car broken and a box of carpenter tools missing.

8:05 a.m.—Steve Anderson, 198 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, said a man's sweater, jacket, tennis racket, baseball bat and baseball glove were stolen from his car.

8:10 a.m. — Mrs. H. L. McMullin, 402 Scenic Road, Fairfax, told police a book of Golden Gate Bridge commute tickets had been taken from her car.

Construction Strike Talks Are Resumed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Talks aimed at settling the 3.5-billion-dollar Northern California construction dispute resumed today between employers and the Laborers Union while one contractors group called for an appeal to Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg.

The Northern California Construction Employers (NCCE) agreed to meet again with the laborers under the guidance of federal mediators Eugene Barry and George Hillenbrand in an effort to end the 24-day-old combined strike-lockout.

The union began picketing several building projects May 1, and the NCCE later ordered a general shutdown.

The Home Builders Assn. of the Greater East Bay also met today after asking all its members to call upon Goldberg to come to California and seek a settlement comparable to the agreement reached last week between Southern California construction employers and the laborers union.

Sergeant Clams Up With FBI

Sgt. Ruben Ernest Rudolph, in the Presidio stockade for the third day in connection with the violent death of his wife, yesterday refused to talk further to Federal Bureau of Investigation officials.

His wife, Lieselotte Eva Rudolph, 36, was found bludgeoned to death on a Marin hillside last Sunday, less than a week after she had arrived in this country from France.

Rudolph, 35, told FBI investigators he last saw his wife on Wednesday before her death when he put her on a plane for a return trip to Europe. His wife's luggage and personal belonings were found in Rudolph's San Francisco apartment when he was arrested early Tuesday by FBI, San Francisco and Marin County authorities.

San Francisco police today were making tests on blood-stained sheets, blankets and a man's T-shirt found on Monday near the death scene.

Rudolph was arrested as he was leaving the apartment of a downstairs neighbor, Alice K. Lathrop, an attractive 36-year-old divorcee.

Fiery Blast Destroys Titan Missile

CHICO (UPI)—An explosion today destroyed a Titan intercontinental ballistics missile and its underground silo at a Titan complex near Chico, the Air Force reported.

Twenty-four persons suffered smoke inhalation in the fiery blast, but there were no fatalities, a spokesman for Beale Air Force Base said.

NO WARHEAD

The Titan was not equipped with a nuclear warhead, the spokesman said.

Residents of this Sacramento Valley community said the town was rocked by the blast at 7:10 a.m., and a cloud of white smoke rose from the silo.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined, the spokesman said. The Titan —one of three in the complex — was undergoing a test by civilian contractors before being turned over to the air force. The missile is 97 feet long, weighs 110 tons and cost two million dollars.

DEEP IN SILOS

Titan missiles, newest operational addition to the Strategic Air Command's ICBM arsenal, are housed in 160-feet-deep underground silos. They are protected by a shield of earth, concrete and 116-ton steel doors so that if necessary they can ride out a nuclear attack and still retaliate.

Quentin Felon, 65, Stabbed

A 65-year-old life-termer was found stabbed today in the tuberculosis section of the San Quentin Prison Hospital.

Edward Mead, a man termed "always in trouble," was severely wounded but expected to recover, prison officials said.

They said they did not know whether he was attacked by another inmate or stabbed himself. But no weapon was found.

Mead, occupying a room alone in an isolated section housing about 50 tuberculosis patients, was heard calling for help about 10:30 a.m.

He was found to be bleeding from a small hole in his chest just below the heart. The wound had been obviously inflicted by some sharp instrument, said Warden Fred R. Dickson.

Mead followed the usual prison custom of refusing to talk.

Mead has for years been a man at war with everyone, and with himself, said Dickson, "fighting, quarreling, an escape artist who tried to get out of all the many places he's been kept, but still capable of being pleasant sometimes when he wanted to be."

Throughout his prison life, dating back to 1941, Mead has been a tuberculosis sufferer. He has been in many institutions including close-scrutiny Folsom, has been paroled and returned, and finally was given a life sentence under a statute on habitual criminality.

In 1959, Dickson recalled, one of Mead's escape efforts involved his reaching a roof of the hospital where he was able to conceal himself for hours, only to seek help finally because of a hemorrhage which nearly took his life at that time.

Within the last six months, there have been seven stabbings within San Quentin walls. Four of them last December were fatal.

During this period 12 escapes have been made, plus one disappearance later found to have been in a hide-out under the textile factory.

Three of the escapees got out in a garbage truck, five went over an unguarded part of the prison wall using a ladder and rope, two left the prison ranch and two got over a fence at the prison quarry.

All were recaptured.

Blaze Destroys $39,000 Sausalito Home Just Purchased Last Week

Fire, possibly caused by defective wiring, last night destroyed the $39,500 home which Mrs. Patricia Tritt bought only last week at 640 Sausalito Boulevard, Sausalito.

In the living room asleep when the fire was discovered were Mrs. Tritt and a friend, James Strait, 25, of 2009 Bridgeway.

Mrs. Tritt told police she was asleep on the davenport and Strait was seated in a chair across the room, having dozed while listening to stereophonic music.

"Next thing I knew," Strait told officers, "I looked up and found the ceiling on fire."

The time was 9:43 when Strait called firemen, after attempting to put out the fire with a garden hose.

Mrs. Tritt's poodle was saved but had been singed and today was recuperating at a veterinarian's.

Mrs. Tritt, a divorcee from Los Angeles, purchased the 60-year-old home about a week ago from Edwin S. Long of Sausalito. Long reported the home had been completely renovated prior to the sale.

Only a shell remained of the brown-shingled home by the time Sausalito firemen, assisted by men from Tamalpais Fire Department, quenched the flames.

It was the third major fire in Sausalito in less than one week. Mrs. Mary Agnes Herscowitz lost her life Monday, by suffocation, when her home at 42 Marion Avenue was ravaged by fire. Fire badly damaged the home of Mrs. Opal M. Edwards on 503 North Street last Thursday.

Goerndt said today that police are still investigating the North Street fire as possible arson.

Senate Widening Probe Of Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators disclosed today their agents have questioned more than 1,000 persons in the widening Billie Sol Estes case.

And, said the informant, many, many more will be questioned before the Senate Investigations subcommittee is ready to start its hearings into whether Washington influence helped Estes build his rickety business empire.

The report came after President John F. Kennedy related at a news conference yesterday that the FBI has moved into the investigation of the mysterious death of Henry Marshall, a Texas farm official, shot to death a year ago while checking into Estes' dealings under the government cotton program.

The FBI declined to comment on the unusual circumstance of its entry into what normally would be a local police case.

Last June, when Marshall was found dead, shot five times, his death was written off as suicide. But under the pressure of the Estes investigation, his body was exhumed Tuesday for an autopsy in Franklin, Tex. Later the county medical examiner told county grand jurors his preliminary finding was murder.

The examiner, Dr. J. A. Jachimczyk, was expected to make his final report today.

The FBI also had no comment on the case of Howard Pratt, 31, Chicago office manager of Commercial Solvents Corp., found dead in his car yesterday of carbon monoxide poisoning. The company's financial relations with Estes, who bought great quantities of liquid fertilizer from the chemical firm, are under investigation.

The Senate subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClelland (D-Ark.) said it had no evidence of any link between Estes and Pratt, but would look into the death because of a cryptic note found in Pratt's car which said in part "the burden of guilt is on my shoulders."

Investigators said they doubted Pratt had any connection with Estes.

A House subcommittee headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-N.C.) plans to start hearings Monday on the Estes case, with political controversy already swirling about its ears.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, accused the subcommittee's staff of leaking to the press what he called politically inspired "petty hinting and subtle innuendo" about two brothers of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

His statements were prompted by a New York Herald Tribune story published yesterday which quoted an expert on the House subcommittee's staff in connection with reports that the names of Edgar Eisenhower and the late Arthur Eisenhower might figure in the hearings on matters completely unrelated to Estes.

In Tacoma, Wash., Edgar Eisenhower, a lawyer, declared "the whole purpose of this is to take the heat off this administration, to take the heat off this Billie Sol Estes investigation. They are trying to shift attention.

JFK Insists Public Wants Medic Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy has made his no-compromise stand on medical care for the aged more emphatic than ever. He insists on weaving it into the Social Security system. He says the public wants it that way.

Firing another broadside at the American Medical Assn. yesterday, Kennedy repeated his prediction that Congress will adopt his plan this year if it reaches the House and Senate floors. And he contended that despite AMA opposition, "more and more doctors are supporting it."

Kennedy heatedly attacked the AMA and Republican critics of his medical care program at his news conference.

AMA spokesmen have denounced the plan as "a cruel hoax." Kennedy said the association used the same words in unsuccessfully opposing Social Security in the 1930s. The AMA may not support this bill, he said, "but I think the American people will, and I think more and more doctors are supporting it."

The 25-minute conference, shortest in his experience as president, covered these other points:

Chinese refugees — he announced the United States would admit several thousand refugees from hungry Communist China. The Justice Department said last night the flow would begin from Hong Kong in about two weeks.

Estes—In view of the possibility a federal official investigating Billie Sol Estes was murdered, Kennedy was asked if Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman could justify saying the affair had been ballooned out of proportion. Let's not judge the case, Kennedy said, until the FBI and Texas authorities have completed their inquiry.

Southeast Asia— Remarking that "when you put troops in, they become difficult to take out unless the situation is stable," Kennedy said U.S. troops will remain in Thailand until events justify their withdrawal.

Eisenhower—He and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower are appearing together on a program this week to advocate effective trade legislation, Kennedy said.

Economy—In the long haul, he said, the stock market will keep in line with the economy, "and I think the prospects for the economy for this year are good."

West Germany — Misunderstandings with the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have been straightened out.

Space — His administration, Kennedy said, strongly supports a joint U.S.-Soviet project to study weather patterns by satellites and hopes this will lead to other co-operative efforts in space.

Cigarettes — Not having enough information, Kennedy said, he'd rather put off comment until next week on claims that certain types of cancer and heart disease are connected with cigarette smoking.

Government Pay — Kennedy declared tersely his pay raise proposals for government employees are not inflationary but fit within the guidelines he has set forth gradually for wage increases based on productivity.

OAS VICTORY?

Salan Is Given Life Sentence

PARIS (AP) — A special tribunal's sentence of life imprisonment for former Gen. Raoul Salan was interpreted by many Frenchmen today as a victory for the terrorist Secret Army.

The mixed judicial-military-civilian court last night found the head of the Secret Army guilty of treason but spared his life because of extenuating circumstances. It did not explain the extenuating circumstances.

The same court earlier had given a death sentence to Salan's chief deputy in the Secret Army, former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud. Many Frenchmen felt President Charles de Gaulle's only choice now was to commute Jouhaud's sentence to life imprisonment.

"The Secret Army won," said a white-collar employee on his way to work, expressing a widely held opinion.

The courtroom, packed with sympathizers of Salan and the Secret Army, broke into pandemonium at the announcement by court president Charles Bornet that the tribunal had found circumstances to extenuate Salan's leading role in the abortive general's revolt in Algiers in April 1961 and his leadership of the Secret Army terrorists.

72 Red Guerrillas Killed In Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese forces supported by fighter-bombers and U.S. Army helicopters have killed 72 Communist guerrillas and captured 34 others in an operation 70 miles south of Saigon, the government reported today.

The Mekong River delta operation, one of the bloodiest in recent weeks, began yesterday, and was reported continuing today.

Air strikes by South Vietnamese fight-bombers inflicted the heaviest casualties among the Viet Cong guerrillas. The government also claimed its troops seized about a ton of arms and ammunition.

Government losses were given as seven killed and 10 wounded. Communist fire also wounded four American Army officers in one of the 14 helicopters ferrying Vietnamese troops into the fighting.

The helicopter pilot, Capt. Robert F. Corneil, 39, was shot in the heel and a U.S. spokesman said he will be unable to walk for some time.

Commonwealth Day For Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Britain celebrated Commonwealth Day today. It used to be called Empire Day but there is not much of an empire left to celebrate.

The sun never sets on the British Empire—so they used to boast in the days when Canada, Australia, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Ghana, among others were governed from London.

The sun still never sets on the British Commonwealth either—but instead of vast populated nations it shines much of the time today on small or sparsely settled islands in the Mediterranean, Caribbean and Western Pacific.

Ruling Due On Eichmann Tuesday

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Dr. Robert Servatius, Adolf Eichmann's West German lawyer, returned to Israel last night to hear the verdict on the former Nazi officer's appeal from the death sentence.

The Israeli Supreme Court will hand down its ruling Tuesday in the same court in Jerusalem where Eichmann was convicted last year for his role in the Nazi mass murder of Jews.

State Liquor Tax Hits Record

SACRAMENTO (AP)—State taxes on liquor, beer and wine hit a record 12.3 million dollars during the first three months of 1962, the State Board of Equalization reported today.

The total was 11 per cent higher than the same period of 1961.

The alcoholic beverage taxes totalled 41.8 million dollars for the nine months ended March 31, up 8 per cent over the previous year.

The breakdown shows 34 million dollars from distilled spirits, 6.8 million dollars from beer, and $639,000 from wine.

The state tax per gallon is $1.50 on distilled spirits, four cents on beer, one cent on table wines, two cents on dessert wines, and 30 cents on sparkling wines.

'Rider' Laid Off

SAN PEDRO (UPI)—A 51-year-old father of 10 who came here as a reverse freedom rider from Baton Rouge, La., said yesterday he had been laid off his job and was looking for work to support his family.

"I'm not getting along too good right now," said Peola Denham, a Negro who was given a one-way ticket out of the South.

"I'm off work," he said. "They (the L. M. Matthews Realty Co. of Venice) laid me off . . . I don't know why . . . I'll have to find another job."

A spokesman for the company which employed Denham said he had been "temporarily released, but we might be able to hire him back again" when work picks up.

Lawman Retiring

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Harold Gillett will retire June 16 as chief of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk announced today.

Gillett, 57, ends a 39-year career in law enforcement work. He started as a deputy sheriff in Imperial County, where his father was sheriff in the 1920's.

He was employed by the CII Bureau since 1936, except for military service during World War II. Mosk appointed him chief in 1960.

Mosk said no successor will be named until next month.

Physicist Dies

BERKELEY (AP)—Hartland S. Snyder, 49, one of the world's top nuclear physicists, died Tuesday after a brief heart illness.

Snyder had been on leave as senior physicist at Brookhaven Laboratory, Long Island, N.Y., to work at the University of California.

He was born in Salt Lake City.

Negroes Boycott 'Huck'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A high school musical show based on the Mark Twain novel "Huckleberry Finn" will go on as scheduled despite a threatened Negro boycott.

The play, "Huckleberry," has been called "degrading" by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People because Negro students are cast as slaves.

The decision to present the play June 1 and 2, on schedule, was announced yesterday by Principal Otto Schmaelzle of George Washington High School.

The local NAACP chapter has asked Negroes to boycott the show.

Child Crushed

WALLINGTON, N.J. (UPI) — A 9-year-old girl was fatally injured last night when a pole on which she was playing snapped off and crushed her.

Mary Ann Kwiecien, a fourth grader at the Sacred Heart School, had been swinging on a rope attached to the 20-foot high pole when the accident happened, police said.

'My Fair Lady' Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—The record long-run musical show, "My Fair Lady," will close July 7 with its 2,621st Broadway performance, it was announced last night.

The Alan Jay Lerner-Frederick Loewe musical, which opened March 15, 1956, will have been seen by more than 3.5 million persons with gross receipts of just under 20 million dollars.

"Oklahoma" which ran for a total of 2,212 performances is in second place in long-run musicals.

Marin Catholic Elects Officers

Marin Catholic High School students have elected Charles Clay of San Rafael as student body president for the 1962-63 school year.

Charles, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Clay of 137 Canal Street, defeated Alfred Wilsey and Ray Giordano for the top student office.

Nancy Lawrence was elected vice president, defeating Cavin Holiday, Marty Salapek, Gaylene Rhaggianti and Paula Mohr. Leslie Leonardi won office at secretary over Maureen Donovan, Rosemary Ehat and Gail Wittenmeir. John Pasquelletti outpolled Michael Boss and William Theurkauf for election as treasurer. Mary Besabella was elected rally commissioner over John Hassett.

Robert Redding was elected cheerleader. He will be assisted by Dick Ghilotti, Patricia Wilson and Deanna Storrs.

Song leaders elected were Shirley Breummer, Casey O'Conner, Kathy Monohan, Carol Finnegan, Janet Schwab and Diane Ghilotti.

Dead Dog Found Floating Face Down In Pool

Vernon E. Cummins of 28 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, returned home from work Tuesday to find a dead dog, floating face down, in his swimming pool.

Cummins called Corte Madera police and the Humane Society. Both told him there was nothing they could do about it.

He finally took the body to the ranch of a friend in Novato, William Wellman, and burned it in an incinerator.

Cummins said the dog was a brown Boxer, well-groomed. It had no collar.

He said there is a six-foot fence around the swimming pool and the gate was locked.

Mill Valley Parks Unit Calls For Budget Hike

The Mill Valley Parks and recreation Commission has recommended to the city council a budget of $50,338 for 1962-63, a sum $1,680 more than its 1961-62 budget.

The commission has recommended a 6-cent tax increase for parks, from 18 to 24 cents. The money would be set aside, according to Park Supt. Joe Penders, for land acquisition and capital improvements.

Breakdown of the budget is as follows: Proposed for parks for 1962-63 is $35,338 against last year's $32,650. Proposed for recreation is $6,000 against last year's $5,600.

Estimated operating cost for the golf course is $34,500. Any money above this figure up to the amount of the estimated revenue of $37,000 will be used for capital improvements. The golf course is a self-supporting recreational area governed by the commission.

Summer School Proves Popular

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — "Year-round college" proved so popular at Oregon State University last summer that the summer session program will be expanded this year, the university announced.

A total of 2,000 students were enrolled for the 1961 summer sessions which offered a full semester of work and the opportunity to finish college in three rather than four years.

Prizes Presented For Safety Posters

The Marin County Insurance Agents Assn. presented prizes yesterday in a safety poster contest which it started nine years ago and which has now become statewide.

Four of the county's seven four-year co-education high schools participated this year in the contest: Tamalpais, Redwood, Sir Francis Drake and Novato.

First prize of $25 went to Jim Lopes of Tam High. Second, $15, was won by Richard Campagna, Redwood, and third, $7.50, by Donna Hartman of Redwood.

In addition, $10 first prize, $7.50 second and $5 third was given in each participating school.

School winners were:

Tamalpais — Lopes, first; Keith Meyer, second; Barbara Mannes, third.

Redwood — Campagna, first; Miss Hartman, second; Paula Cumming, third.

Drake — Wesley R. Russell, first; Judy Mulder, second; Robert Caughie, third.

Novato—Chuck West, first; Joan Fisher, second; Sue Stafford, third.

The contest is for posters promoting traffic safety. It has been developed both locally and statewide by Max S. Martin, safety chairman of the Marin association and accident prevention chairman of the California State Insurance Agents Assn. Martin reported 15 other county associations are making awards in similar contests this year for the first time.

Martin presented the awards at a luncheon yesterday at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael, held in honor of the winners. Young Campagna was unable to attend, so was to receive his award later.

Judges were Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, Capt. Theodore F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol, and Martin.

Deputies Probe Fist Fight

Deputy Sheriff William S. Christensen reported that George Turner Marsh, 27, of Calle Del Arroyo, Stinson Beach, and mail carrier William James Roberts, 32, of 505 Bonita, Sausalito, were the participants.

The running fight broke out over a padlocked chain fence strung across the receiving entrance to the Stinson Beach Postoffice.

Marsh owns property where the Stinson Beach Postoffice is located.

Christensen and Deputy Raymond L. von Savoye said Marsh told them he got into an argument with mail driver Roberts, which was broken up by Stinson Beach resident Harvey Zion.

But Marsh then drove to the Bolinas Postoffice, and when Roberts arrived in his mail truck, the argument resumed—and led to fisticuffs.

Roberts suffered a black eye, shoulder and facial bruises, and head wounds. He told officers Roberts tripped him, then kicked him.

BIG SALE OF BOOKS NOT AT COUNTY LIBRARY

Do not confuse the Marin County Library at 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, with the San Rafael Public Library at Fifth Avenue and E Street, County Librarian Virginia Keating requested yesterday.

More than 1,000 books will be sold on the lawn of the San Rafael Public Library at Fifth Avenue and E Street on June 1 and 2. Ever since this announcement was made in Monday's Independent-Journal, inquiries have been pouring into the wrong library.

The sale will be held at the city library on Fifth Avenue, not at the county library on Grand Avenue.

The book sale is sponsored by the Marin Retired Teachers Assn. Proceeds will go for new books to stock the city library.

Airline, A.F. Held Liable In Collision

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Federal Court jury says United Airlines and the government are liable for damages in an air collision between a jetliner and an Air Force fighter over Las Vegas on April 21, 1958.

Forty-seven persons perished in the crash.

The jury returned the verdict yesterday, ruling in favor of 23 relatives of the victims. The relatives seek a total of 10 million dollars.

The amount each plaintiff receives will be determined June 5 when the same jury continues hearing the case.

Jurors found the airline guilty of general negligence. They did not mention specific infractions.

Both the government and the fighter pilot were found negligent. The government did not notify airlines that Air Force jet penetration procedures existed over the Las Vegas area, the jury said.

Survey Shows Lowering U.S. Tariff Barriers Is Favored

Proposed legislation to lower United States tariff barriers is favored by a sampling of businessmen in the First Congressional District, the League of Women Voters of Marin County has learned.

Twenty-three replies to a questionnaire sent by the league to wine, fishing, lumber and fruit industries in the district show:

1. Eighty-one per cent agreed that lowering trade barriers would stimulate U.S. economic growth.

2. But 65 per cent believed lowered barriers would not stimulate their own companies' growth.

3. Half use imported materials in their businesses; three-fourts are in competition with imported goods.

4. Approximately two-thirds export their products, and most of them face quotas for how much they can export.

President Is Elected At Military Academy

James Misch has been elected president of the San Rafael Military Academy student council for next school year.

Misch of Alamo, Contra Costa County, served this year as junior class representative to the council and was editor of Chevrons, the school literary magazine. He defeated David Blaine of San Rafael for the presidency.

Named vice president was Gary Gilbert of San Diego. Gilbert was junior class vice president and junior Red Cross representative. During his sophomore year he was class president. Gilbert won over Gordon Linden of Oakland.

Secretary-elect for next year is David Good of Kentfield. Good, a sergeant, was vice president and treasurer of the sophomore class last year, was a member of the Chevrons staff, Red Cross representative and track team member. Good was elected over Steven Beck of Atherton.

Elected council treasurer was Jules Agostini of Oakland, former sophomore class treasurer and treasurer of the Chevrons staff. Agostini defeated Robert Lesoine of Ross.

Go-T's Repeat Their Beat Of 3 Peps

The Go-T's beat the Three Peps by a vote of 603 to 600 today in a repeat election at Tamalpais High School for the job of yell leaders.

The Go-T's had won, also by three votes, Tuesday.

However, a new election had been called because 52 senior students of "Problems in American Democracy" had been on a field trip and were unable to vote.

The Go-T's are headed by Kenneth Robin, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Robin of 286 Oakdale Avenue, Mill Valley, and include Judy Dexter and Kathie Walker, both of Sausalito.

The Three Peps were Douglas Chambers, Carole McGlothlen, and Carol Kitchens, all of Mill Valley.

Burning Love And Gasoline

ROCHESTER, N.Y., (AP)—Harold Hacker, director of the Rochester Public Library, reports that a girl called the library information office on the phone and asked:

"What's the nearest state where there's no waiting period for a couple to get married?"

"If you'll wait just a moment," said the librarian on duty, "I'll look up that information for you."

"Well, I wish you'd hurry," said the girl. "I'm calling from a pay station and my boy friend is parked out front with the motor running."

WILLIAM A. GNOSS
Would succeed himself

Gnoss, Womack, Are In Only County Supervisorial Race

With incumbent Supervisor Walter R. Castro of San Rafael unopposed for re-election in District 1, the only county supervisorial contest this year is in the Fifth District, where incumbent William Gnoss is challenged by former Novato Mayor Wayne Womack.

Both are Novato residents.

Gnoss, though San Francisco-born on Sept. 6, 1897, is the son of a rancher near Novato, while his mother was organizer of the first Parent-Teacher Assn. in Novato. Gnoss also has raised poultry and fruit and engaged in dairying.

He attended public school in Novato before going through high school in San Rafael. A youthful interest in baseball, which he played 20 years, brought him the managership of the semi-pro Novato Fire Department team in 1927-31. He was president in 1950 of the Novato Softball League.

Gnoss is married to the former Gretchen Kuhn of San Francisco. They live at 623 Olive Avenue.

A daughter and son, Mrs. Louise Anderson and William Gnoss Jr., both live in Novato, as do his three brothers, Joseph A., Edward T. and George H. Gnoss, now county clerk.

Gnoss was active in establishing the City of Novato and in locating the county airport just north. He favors completion of the next phase of the civic center as well as the Novato Creek flood control project which he got under way when first chosen supervisor in 1954.

Youth projects have been a major interest and Gnoss supports such activities as 4-H Clubs, Little League and Boy Scouts.

He has long been interested in further development of the Eel River water supply for North Marin, and he favors a larger airport near Novato. His efforts have been for good planning and improved roads in the San Geronimo and Nicasio Valleys.

Womack's political life has comprised service for two years, until last month, as first mayor of the new city where he lives at 130 Grande Vista.

He was born in Madill, Okla., on Jan. 18, 1929, and received public school education. His parents were from Beaumont, Calif., and he was married there to Colleen M. Hansen. Their children are Craig, Diane, Elaine, Jennifer and Matthew.

Before his present ownership of Womack's Variety Store, Womack had seven years of banking in Southern California and Novato. He was active in the work of incorporation of Novato and organization of the new city.

Womack claims broad knowledge of the needs of a city in a period of great growth and development, but says its place in the economy of the county must be studied carefully.

"Active leadership," says Womack, is required, with much work. He says he is prepared to give both. He has taken special interest in relocation of Highway 101 which now runs through Novato.

Womack declares his mind open on problems before the county supervisors and says he has no desire to line up with other members of the board except on specific interests "where I feel that the best for Marin and for my district may be served."

He has challenged Gnoss' record in various respects and has claimed that Gnoss failed to grasp opportunity.

Both Womack and Gnoss are Democrats. Both belong to the Novato Chamber of Commerce and the Novato Rotary Club.

Oklahoma Guards Ballot Boxes In Close Race Over Governor

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Oklahoma National Guardsmen stood guard over the ballot boxes in Oklahoma's 77 counties today for the first time in history on a statewide basis.

They were ordered out early yesterday by Oklahoma Gov. Howard Edmondson after an extremely close race between former Gov. Raymond Gary and W. P. Bill Atkinson for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination appeared headed for a certain recount.

Tallies from the state's 3,143 precincts gave Atkinson 232,051 votes, and Gary 231,521—a razor-thin 530-vote margin for Atkinson.

Gary engaged four attorneys to prepare a recount petition if the present unofficial election results are upheld by an official tabulation by the state election board. Atkinson was also prepared to take legal action if he lost the slim lead.

The board hoped to complete the official tally by tomorrow. But board chairman Clee Fitzgerald said, however, the board was proceeding just as if a re-count had already been requested in all 77 counties.

Fitzgerald said the Oklahoma Supreme Court had been asked to furnish a list of district judges to preside. He said that if the list was supplied in time, a recount could start Monday.

Edmondson dispatched Oklahoma highway patrol units to all 77 county election board headquarters shortly after midnight Tuesday after it became evident only the official tabulation would tell the story.

Edmondson later relieved the troopers with national guardsmen. The governor said he ordered the guard out at the request of Fitzgerald to make sure ballots were preserved.

Fire, Water On Sausalito Session Agenda

Fire and water will be the two principal topics discussed at the annual meeting and election of directors of the Sausalito Citizens Council at 8 p.m. June 7 in the IDESST Hall.

Fire Chief Mathew J. Perry will discuss "Fire—What You Must Do." Robert G. Anderson, chairman of the Marin Municipal Water District board, will speak on "Water—Is It Available?" They will cover subjects such as fire equipment, firehouses, water pipes, manpower and the local water reserve system.

Nominees for the four vacancies on the board of directors are Richard Cruikshank, Raymond Gergus, and incumbents Glenn Hall and Carl W. Spring.

The citizens council, according to president Carl Gabrielson, has announced its support of the 50-cent proposed Sausalito school tax increase.

KIDS TURN BACK THE CALENDAR

Women's rights went out the window today at Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael as seventh and eighth graders observed "Slave Day," a Davidson tradition in which each boy may name a girl his slave—and she must take his orders for a day. Reclining in rickshaw which he built at home out of bicycle wheels and an old wicker chair is master Jon Owen, eighth grader, with slave Leigh Vox (eighth grade) in the shafts. DROWNING by drowning. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Berkeley Hills Chapel.

Assistant Coroner Bradley got this sequence of events:

Yesterday morning at Garfield Junior High, Robert told classmates Howard Fullmer and David Bressler that he would hold his breath under water for two minutes when they got to the pool.

About 3 p.m., the boys entered the deep end of the pool and were treading water. Robert was taking deep breaths to go under. The other two tired, and swam to the edge. One of the boys said he saw Robert at the bottom and went down to him, but Robert waved him away.

A girl classmate, Lynda Lynne Devendorf, swam the length of the pool and saw Robert still on the bottom. When she touched him, he was stiff. She called the lifeguards.

As guards pulled the victim out, classmate Fullmer said he thought they were making a mistake, "he's still holding his breath."

Professor Fatt and his family live at 1891 San Antonio Street, Berkeley. They have a daughter, Lois, 18, who is a student at Berkeley High School.

Tiburon Group Meeting With S.P.

The Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council last night discussed an unofficial report that the Southern Pacific Co. would ask for exclusion of Northwestern Pacific Railroad property from the incorporation of the Tiburon Peninsula.

Council members will meet with Southern Pacific officials tomorrow morning, he said.

Bayview Heights residents attended the meeting to ask the land use committee to reconsider its support of the county planning commission's decision to rezone the entrance to the Tiburon Peninsula. The committee did not change its opinion.

in of 134 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, said three cars owned by him and parked in his driveway had been tampered with. Missing was a book of commute tickets.

12:45 p.m. — George Schwingler, 309 Scenic Road, Fairfax, reported his car window broken and a bowling ball missing from the car.

12:50 p.m. — Frank Egger, 8 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, said his locked car had been broken into, and a polishing rag and two fountain pens stolen.

12:51 p.m. — Edith Gould, resident of another apartment at 8 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, told police a flashlight had been stolen from her car.

Most of the stolen items were found on an anonymous tip yesterday in a ditch above Greenfield Avenue in San Rafael by San Anselmo Police Officer Louis McAllister.

The same tipster led Fairfax Police Chief James Orr and San Anselmo Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio to Sikorski.

Ironically, Sikorski had been stopped by Serio on a routine investigation at 4:10 a.m. yesterday in Fairfax. In his car at that time were a bowling ball, baseball bat and glove and a tennis racket—all of which he said belonged to him.

the strange luminous "fireflies" reported by Glenn and Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov. But Carpenter saw only a few of them.

The major experiment was release of a vari-colored, beach-ball-sized balloon attached by a 100-foot nylon cord.

Scientists need to know what colors can best be seen in the blue-black of space and whether a space pilot can retain his depth perception.

The balloon apparently did not inflate all the way, and Carpenter said it appeared rectangular in shape. He reported that the orange and silver colors were the most easily seen.

Carpenter, who never did win his degree in aeronautical engineering. He took star readings, did exercises for a blood pressure reading in space.

Australian scientists lighted flares of one million candlepower in hopes Carpenter could see them, but clouds over much of Australia nullified this experiment. The astronaut did see the lights of either Perth or Darwin, however.

He found no discomfort in weightlessness, but his aluminum coated nylon and rubber space suit heated up several times.

Socialite Fined For Intoxication

A socially prominent Kent Woodlands woman, convicted of her second drunken driving offense within less than three years, drew a stiff fine yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

However, Mrs. Beatrice C. Palmer, 49, will not have to serve the mandatory jail sentence that accompanies a second offense. Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court erased the prior conviction from the records, thus technically making the new conviction her first offense.

Mrs. Palmer was arrested on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur on Nov. 21, 1961. She had a prior conviction in Monterey-Carmel court in February, 1959.

Judge Thomas gave her a 10-day suspended jail sentence, one year of supervised probation, $440 fine, and suspended her driving privilege for six months. She must also get psychiatric care as directed by the probation officer.

She is the former wife of attorney Warren A. Palmer of San Francisco. In December of 1960, she drew five years probation for shooting Palmer in the thigh after an argument at their home at 135 South Ridgewood Road.

A Daly City driver, John Marcus Perusina Jr., 44, paid $166 fine and drew six months probation for his first drunken driving offense. He was arrested on Highway 101 last Sunday.

Mrs. Herscowitz, owner of De Femme Shop in the Village Fair in Sausalito, was found dead by firemen after flames engulfed her apartment at 42 Marion Avenue. She was asphyxiated in her bed.

One Body Is Still Missing In Airliner's Fatal Crash

UNIONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—One body was still missing today in the fatal crash of a Continental Airlines jet plane. The other 44 bodies were in an improvised morgue here.

Search for the missing, unidentified victim and for the cause of the accident that tore the big plane apart in the air over southern Iowa continued with teams of federal investigators on hand.

The 5½-million-dollar Boeing 707 plane left a trail of wreckage for 60 miles Tuesday night before its main fuselage plummeted into a Missouri farm.

The plane had been advised of thunderstorm turbulence as it neared Kansas City on its flight from Chicago.

Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb Halaby said there was not a shred of evidence that the airliner had collided with a small plane or had been ripped apart by a bomb.

GOOD JOB ON EARTH, ABOVE IT

Glenn Named Father Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A man acclaimed for doing a good job above the earth today was honored for doing a good job on it. Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. was named the nation's "Father of the Year."

Although Glenn, as the first American to orbit this planet, has been as far away from his family as any man ever has been, he was rated tops as a family man by the National Father's Day Committee.

It also praised his courageous performance in his orbital flight last Feb. 20, and "his modesty in insisting that the honors heaped upon him belong to the space program itself and not to him personally."

The committee cited Glenn's "rare gifts of intellect, charm and daring" and called him "America's newest hero in its quest for peace and universal freedom."

He and his wife, Anna Margaret, have two children, John David, 14, and Carolyn Ann, 13.

The Easter Island cordillera is the longest submerged mountain chain in the Pacific Ocean, stretching 8,000 miles from the South Pacific to Central America and beyond into the Caribbean.

In ceremonies at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, the committee also presented awards in various categories to nine other persons, including:

Actor Robert Morse, "Stage Father of the year"; entertainer Arthur Godfrey, "Radio Father of the Year"; actors E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed, "TV Father and Son of the Year"; attorney Louis Nizer, "Literary Father of the Year."

Actress Olivia de Havilland, "Woman of the Year"; boxing champion Gene Fullmer, "Sports Father of the Year"; conductor and composer Meredith Willson, winner of "Humanitarian Award"; entertainer Don Mahoney, "Blind Father of the year," and printer Jack Markewitz, "Worker Father of the Year."

Marin Grand Jurors Want Penalty On Tax-Pay Failures

Marin County grand jurors want the State Legislature to impose stiffer penalties for those who fail to pay their personal property taxes on time.

A grand jury resolution, filed with the county clerk, recommends that an 8 per cent penalty be imposed each year on unsecured property tax delinquencies. Under present law, the 8 per cent penalty is imposed just once, and interest on the amount owed begins accruing only after the case goes to court and judgment is entered.

"The present delinquency penalty of 8 per cent, when spread over a period of time, becomes insignificant and tends to encourage a delay in payment of taxes," the grand jury resolution declares.

Copies of the resolution, signed by Grand Jury foreman Irving D. Chapman and secretary Nancy C. Swadesh, will go to State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley.

The grand jury's finance committee, headed by Alfred W. Bowman, studied the tax delinquency problem and recommended a change in the law.

The finance committee highly commended County Tax Collector-Treasurer M. F. Donohue "for his unchallenged conduct of his office of tax collector during the past 32 years, in addition to his later assumed duties of county treasurer over the past 10 years."

The grand jury's recommendation on stiffer penalties on unsecured property taxes does not apply to real estate taxes. Delinquencies on those are penalized 6 per cent per year, with additional penalties as the delinquency drags on.

Short Story: Naked Knees At College

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) —The nakedness of a knee was fraught with social significance at Highland Park Junior College today.

Bermuda shorts have become a touchstone of undergraduate dignity. Yesterday, 400 of the college's 1,000 day students wore the shorts in defiance of a new school rule.

The location of the college across the street from Highland Park High School lies at the base of the social drama in the Detroit suburb.

"We are told we are setting an example for students at the high school," said college freshman Jake Femininео, 19.

The students rebelled at the anti-Bermuda regulation and used bare legs as "a symbol of student protest," said Terry Roach, 19 (the one in kilts).

The word was out today that students in shorts will be barred from class. "If we back out now," said Roach, "it will look as if we haven't the courage of our convictions."

Shell Hits Nixon, Nixon Hits Brown, Brown Hits Both

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell, addressing a crowd estimated by his aides at 15,000, asserted that nothing solidifies Democratic voters like the "name and thought" of Richard M. Nixon.

"Nixon is a loser," Shell told a rally at the Sports Arena last night. "He would find it difficult, if not impossible, to pull the 20 per cent of the Democratic votes necessary to win in November."

Shell, vying with the former vice president for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, added:

"I am convinced that I am the only one who can beat Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown."

The Assembly minority leader accused Nixon of being more interested in the White House than the statehouse and of sidestepping challenges to a debate.

"The state Democratic administration is filled with misplaced persons, second rate administrators and political hacks," Nixon said. "California deserves better than the sort of man who is kicked out of Washington for his part in the Billie Sol Estes case."

During current investigations of Estes' financial affairs, a former Brown agricultural aide, James Ralph, was fired by the federal Agriculture Department.

Without mentioning names, Nixon also declared that California could not afford to have a university regent living 3,000 miles away. Frederick Dutton, Brown's former executive secretary who recently was appointed a University of California regent, now has joined the Kennedy administration in Washington.

Governor Brown, addressing a rally-dinner in Anaheim, said his principal Republican opponents are afraid to attack his record so they attack him instead.

"They are afraid to attack our achievements in education, water development, social welfare, law enforcement and recreation," he said.

"They are afraid to attack them because they know our achievements have the overwhelming approval of the people.

He charged Nixon and Shell with impairing the state's development by contending California has a bad business climate.

She Likes To See Children Read

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

"I wouldn't be a teacher; I wouldn't be a principal; I wouldn't be a superintendent. There is nothing so rewarding as giving these children good books to read."

The speaker was Mrs. Elizabeth Peebles, librarian for first through sixth grades in San Rafael schools.

Her enthusiasm for her job went only a little beyond that of five others who reported on special services in the San Rafael Elementary School District at this week's meeting of the board of education.

The others were Charles Freeman, junior high school librarian; C. B. Graham, speech therapist; Katherine Tasker of the school health staff; Mrs. Dorothy Wall, music consultant, and Robert Shore, coordinator of the "more able learners" program.

After they had finished, Asst. Supt. Mildred B. Barnard apologized because their reports, scheduled for 30 minutes, had occupied an hour and a half.

"Don't apologize," said acting chairman C. Paul Bettini. "I enjoyed every minute of them."

Children can learn to read in the classroom, said Mrs. Peebles, but they do not become readers there.

"If basal readers were as far as they got," she said, "they never could really be readers. It would be like learning to play the piano without going beyond the finger exercises."

To fill the desire of young minds to explore the newly discovered world of words, the San Rafael elementary schools this year had a library budget of $1.93 per pupil. It wasn't enough, said Mrs. Peebles; she needs another librarian and more clerical help.

But San Rafael's school library program has come far in the last three years, she reported. Three years ago, some schools had no room allotted for library use, each principal was responsible for book selections in his own school; the books — looked after by Parent-Teachers Assn. volunteers —were mostly arranged in alphabetical order.

Now, all schools have designated library rooms; there is central control, supervision, and book selection; the books are all classified by the Dewey decimal system — and the children are taught how to use it. The P-TA volunteers are still there, but they have received training in library work. Each teacher has a scheduled library time.

But the approximately 5,000 titles on the shelves are not enough to cover all the demands of eager young minds.

The junior high school library operation is simpler, with only two schools. Librarian Freeman spends three days each week at Davidson, two days at Santa Venetia. The operation would be improved with a librarian at each school, he said.

New this year is a summer reading list, of books at seventh and eighth grade levels obtainable from the San Rafael and Marin County public libraries.

Seventy children from San Rafael schools were given speech therapy once weekly this year, reported Graham. The 70 were chosen as most in need from about 250 candidates submitted by teachers.

Ten children had been dismissed, as with corrected speech, by Christmas, and 10 more in April, he reported.

Mrs. Tasker reported on health services in behalf of herself and three other school nurses: Edna Rockstroh, Mary Lou Carlson and Joanne Foote.

The nurses' work is supplemented by that of the schools' physician, Dr. Anne Brady, and the assistance of many other doctors.

It has included vision and hearing tests, medical career clubs, home instruction, and treatment of accidents.

"Thousands of band aids and assorted minor dressings have been applied," said Mrs. Tasker. "Hundreds of illness complaints have been listened to, evaluated and acted upon."

The "more able learner" program headed by Shore is just getting under way.

In one way or another, it has reached 14 per cent of pupils in fourth through sixth grades this year, he reported. Ways include use of special or additional texts for brightest pupils in classes, "meet the author" and "meet the musician" session arranged by Mrs. Peebles and Mrs. Wall, etc.

It is planned to reach down into lower grades next year, said Shore, at the same time restricting the program to less than 10 per cent at the top of the ability scale.

Shore presented a chart showing that "the whole range of human knowledge" is intended to be encompassed in the program. (Special classes this spring have included a Saturday class in chemistry at E Street School, with a visiting instructor staff, and an after-school class in rockets and spacecraft at West End, taught by Thomas Kendall.)

Mrs. Wall described her pleased surprise on arriving in San Rafael to find most first graders able to sing and appreciative of music. She called it a tribute to the culture of San Rafael residents.

"We honestly believe that all children are potentially musical," said Mrs. Wall.

Mrs. Wall's report was something of a swan song. Her transfer to teach sixth grade at MacPhail School next fall was approved at the same board meeting.

Several Factors Contributed To Death Of Inmate At Jail

Several factors may have contributed to the death of a county jail inmate who succumbed in his cell Monday night about an hour after being checked by a doctor and released from the hospital, Coroner Frank J. Keaton said late yesterday.

The victim was John Joseph Powers, 41, an interior decorator who lived at Inverness. He was being held in jail for an inebriacy hearing.

Coroner Keaton announced that a tentative diagnosis indicates that the following factors led to Powers' death:

Alcoholism, paraldehyde (medicine given for treatment of delirium tremens), possible bronchopneumonia, acute hemorrhagic gastritis, and pulmonary emphysema (swelling of the lungs).

A more complete analysis of cause of death will be made after toxicology tests have been completed, the coroner said.

About 8:30 p.m. Monday, Powers began bleeding at the mouth. Sheriff's deputies took him to San Rafael General Hospital, where Dr. Rafael G. Duffficy Jr., county physician, examined him. The doctor then returned the patient to the county jail, prescribing a half cup of paraldehyde to be given the patient at the jail.

Powers was found dead in his cell about 10:55 p.m.

He had been married four times and leaves a 16-year-old daughter in New York, the coroner disclosed.

Membership Drive At Swimming Club

Edward J. Smith, president of the non-profit Strawberry Swimming Club, Inc., said today that special effort is being made to sell additional $200 memberships before June 1.

This is because the state missioner of corporations has stipulated that $30,000 must be raised by then and placed in trust. About $20,000 has been raised so far, said Smith.

The club intends to place its pool on land leased from the Strawberry Recreation District.

Proposed Zone Map Gets Sausalito Plans Approval

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night approved the proposed Sausalito zoning map and recommended it to the city council.

The vote was 5-2. Commissioners F. Bruce Bernhard and Robert Nissen opposing and Robert Anthony absent.

Bernhard opposed on the grounds the map "is arbitrary, discriminatory and based on prejudice and an inconsistent policy. It is based on erroneous information or a lack of information which in my mind is not in keeping with the best in best interest of the majority of voters and taxpayers of this town."

Nissen's view was that zoning problems can be solved by amending the existing zoning ordinance.

Two amendments were made in approval of the map: one to provide that density in Buena Vista Heights subdivision not be increased, and the other than Vina Del Mar Plaza and the streets that border it be included in the central waterfront district.

Commissioners requested that the council retain a professional planning consultant before the end of fiscal 1961-62 to start work drawing up a new zoning ordinance based on principles of the zoning committee report. Money to do this, according to Chairman Mel Wax, was offered from the unused commission budget. It is estimated the cost would be $2,500.

The new zoning, Wax said, follows recommendations of the 1959 general plan. It provides for low densities in the high hilly areas of the city and higher densities as the city reaches level areas. It creates a requirement of 2,500 square feet minimum for duplex and triplex units. There is no triplex area now and duplex is 2,000 square feet. Apartment density would remain 1,250 square feet minimum.

The proposed change in single-family zones would be a rise to 6,000-square-foot lots where 5,000-square-foot lots are now allowed.

Fourth District Must Be Enlarged, Unit Says

Members of the Marin County Supervisorial Redistricting Committee decided last night that something must be done to increase the population in West Marin.

Their cure would lie with neither biology nor immigration, but solely in changing the boundaries of supervisorial district 4.

The committee decided Marin County's irregular terrain precludes achievement of full equality among the five supervisorial districts, but nonetheless district 4 must be enlarged.

The Fourth District now has only 1.7 per cent of the county's registered voters.

Several proposals were noted, such as inclusion of the San Geronimo Valley (now in District 5), and the southern coastal area (now in District 3).

Strong community of interest between these areas and the present West Marin district was alleged.

Attorney Thomas Storer of the Point Reyes Peninsula presented a legal opinion that no supervisor could be redistricted out of his current area within his term.

The tentative June 30 deadline for submission of a redistricting plan county supervisors is likely to be exceeded, committee members agreed.

2 Boys Race Trucks In School Yard

Two 14-year-old boys who did some early morning racing with two pick-up trucks in the Redwood High School equipment yard today caused "hundreds of dollars of damage," Larkspur police reported.

The two climbed the fence at 4:30 a.m. Each started driving a pick-up truck owned by Watkin and Sibbald, San Anselmo contractors, which was parked in the yard.

Before the youths were caught by John Cottle of Larkspur police and Kenneth Watkins, night watchman at the high school, they had smashed through a pile of lockers and crashed one of the trucks into a building.

Police reported skid marks indicated the two boys had been racing with the trucks.

Both boys were booked in the county juvenile hall on charges of vehicle tampering and curfew violation.

BUT WON'T CALL OFF POLICE

Everyman Cause Has JFK Sympathy

President John F. Kennedy has been reported in sympathy with three men who plan to sail into the Pacific in protest against atomic bomb testing—but he won't call off the atomic police.

Robert Swann, builder of the Everyman, said today, as he announced another delay in sailing, that the Committee for Nonviolent Action has received a letter from Lee C. White, special assistant to the president, saying, "President Kennedy sympathizes with the concern of the people going on the voyage."

Nevertheless, said the letter, the matter has been turned over to the Atomic Energy Commission, which will "take the necessary action" if the Everyman is sailed into the 400-mile restricted area surrounding Christmas Island in the South Pacific.

That's just where Leo Stallings II of Los Altos Hills, Evan Dedrick Yoes of Berkeley, and Ed Lazar of New York City plan to sail the Everyman. Their purpose is a human protest against the bomb testing.

Swann said the three-hulled boat, now at Kappas Yacht Harbor at Waldo Point, will said from there at 7 a.m. Saturday—headed for Christmas Island.

The departure date has been postponed several times.

Preliminary Approval Given 90-Apartment Proposal

Preliminary approval was given the over-all site planning for 90-apartment San Rafael Village on Bayview Street, San Rafael, at a special meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission yesterday afternoon.

Revised plans had been worked out through several hours of combined effort by the planning staff and Edward Dulin of Seabreeze Construction Co., who flew from San Diego to seek a solution.

Planners objected to an unrelieved area of more than 90,000 square feet of parking area blacktop, to be surrounded by two and three-story apartment buildings. Solution was found by rearrangement, reducing parking spaces from 116 to 112—still two more spaces than will be required under a new ordinance not effective until June 7.

Dogwood Capital Is Coming Up

Water Contract

A $22,838.60 contract with Armco Steel Corp. in Berkeley for supply of two types of steel pipe was approved yesterday by directors of the Marin Municipal Water District. The total involved 4,780 feet of pipe of 15.3-inch outside diameter.

Big Increase Of Books At Dixie Reported

Within two years the number of books in school libraries of Dixie School District has increased from 3,904 volumes to 10,974 at purchase cost of $17,174, an average outlay of $2.43 per pupil, district trustees were told last night by Mrs. Kathryn McGregor, district librarian.

"Circulation reports," said Mrs. McGregor, "give adequate proof that as our supplies of books increase, the number of books read per child increases each year."

The board accepted the new multi-use room, costing $89,236, and site development, costing $16,591, at Mary E. Silveira School.

On the theory that the trustees are concerned with education as it continues on to high school and junior college, the board endorsed the proposed 35-cent tax rate increase in Marin Junior College District, which will be on the June 5 ballot.

Contracts were authorized with the following new teachers: Mrs. Joanne A. Blaney of San Diego, third grade, at $5,400 a year; Mrs. Marjorie Chance of Petaluma, third grade, at $6,950; Susan Rae Cochran of University of California at Santa Barbara, second grade, at $4,800; Eleanor Kuntz of Hayward, seventh and eighth grades, at $5,100, and Mrs. Marilen L. Moore of San Leandro, fifth grade, at $6,650.

The board accepted resignations of Mrs. Nancy Gouran, first grade teacher at Santa Margarita School, and Mrs. Virginia Hooke, secretary at Don Timoteo School. Maternity leave was granted to Mrs. Josephine Hoffmire, kindergarten teacher at Lucas Valley School.

A contract was authorized to permit San Francisco State College students to do practice teaching in the Dixie District.

Subject to approval by the county superintendent, the board authorized a payroll deduction plan for the Dixie Chapter of the California School Employees Assn. for the chapter's group insurance plan.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis was authorized to enter into discussions with the county superintendent and the superintendent and board of the San Jose School District concerning possibility of housing one of the mentally retarded classes of the county in the Dixie District for the 1962-63 school year.

It was agreed to provide $500 toward the Marinwood Community Services District summer recreation program, in addition to allowing use of the school grounds and buildings within the services district.

Decision was made to participate in a summer school for deaf youngsters at Marindale School provided other San Rafael, San Anselmo and San Jose districts do so.

Lagunitas School

Summer maintenance of Lagunitas School, and the ever-present problem of finances are to be discussed by Lagunitas School District trustees at a meeting at 8 p.m. today at the school in San Geronimo Valley.

Terra Linda Unit Against Road Plan

A majority of Terra Linda Community Services District directors are ready to pass a resolution against a proposed road from Del Ganado Road in Terra Linda to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at White's Hill, director Melvin Warenback declared today.

The route was proposed at a closed meeting of the Sleepy Hollow Home Owners Assn. roads committee Tuesday night, as an alternate to an earlier-suggested route from Manuel Freitas Parkway to Drake Boulevard via Fawn Drive and Butterfield Road in Sleepy Hollow.

Warenback said he had talked with other directors and was sure a majority would vote for the resolution at a CSD board meeting set for next Monday at 8 p.m. in the district's office.

"The extension of Manuel Freitas Parkway would put extra traffic only on it," said Warenback. "A connection via Del Ganado to Lucas Valley Road and over the hill would create traffic congestion all through Terra Linda residential areas."

The Freitas Parkway-Fawn Drive link was proposed by Carlos Gonzalez, San Rafael civil engineer, in a study done for the Draper Companies, developers of the Northgate Shopping Center. An alternate route proposed by Gonzalez, and called more feasible by County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham, would connect the Freitas Parkway extension with San Francisco Boulevard in San Anselmo.

Candidates Asked Stand On Water

Twelve candidates for election to the boards of three divisions of the Marin Municipal Water District are being questioned by letter from the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs on their stand concerning sale of surplus water district land.

Signed by Gerritt Orton as chairman, the letter raises two points.

First question is whether they favor maintenance of a policy of selling Mount Tamalpais surplus lands only to the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

The second question refers to the Fairfax and Meadow Club areas and asks if the candidates favor offering surplus lands there to the same division for sale or on lease if necessary for fiscal reasons.

Rapid Transit Added-Tax Plan Is Told

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A typical Bay Area homeowner would pay an added tax of $5.60 the first year and this would go up yearly to a peak of $27 during the eight and one-half years needed to build a rapid transit system, consulting engineers reported today.

The new transit plan for three counties, Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco, was submitted for approval by the board of directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

It envisions a system of fast electric trains, serving more than 30 cities, financed by a 792-million-dollar bond issue, plus 133 million dollars more for a transbay transit tube and 71 million dollars for rolling stock to be paid for by bridge tolls and transit revenues.

The revised report was made necessary by withdrawal of San Mateo and Marin counties from the transit district.

If the transit district directors approve, the plan will be placed for adoption before boards of supervisors of the three counties involved; then a 792-million-dollar bond issue will go before the voters Nov. 6.

Tax support would continue after 8 and one-half years, the report said, but the amount would decline from the estimated peak bill of $27 for the typical home owner, one with an average assessed valuation of $4,000.

The proposal envisions starting work in fiscal 1963-64 and completion by 1971-72.

Van Bueren Stanbery, the transit district's economic consultant estimated the system would produce more than 80 million dollars in measurable benefits annually by 1975.

Cigarette Machine Robbed Of 47 Packs

The $11.75 worth of smokes was taken sometime between Saturday midnight and 6 a.m. Monday, reported an employee, Luther Elmer Jackson of 611 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley.

Saga Of Returned Airmen Ends In His Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Death has revealed a strange new turn in the romance of the young airman who returned from a Chinese Communist prison in 1955 and found his wife married to another, yet won her back.

They were remarried, subsequently divorced, and each married again—he to his second bride, she to her third mate.

That was revealed yesterday when his death was reported, also belatedly.

The airman, Daniel C. Schmidt, was captured when his B-29 crashed in the Korean War. He was released 32 months later.

His wife, Una, then 22, believing him killed in action, had married Alford Fine, a Shasta County logger.

But after a long period of indecision, Una returned to Schmidt with the son she had borne him five weeks after he left for Korea.

Fine married another woman in Reno five months later.

Schmidt and Una went to Redding, where Schmidt went to work in a plywood factory.

A brief paragraph in a logger's magazine reported Schmidt died at Ft. Miley Veterans Hospital May 9 while undergoing open-heart surgery.

Hospital records listed the name of the former airman's wife as Darlene Schmidt, 19. Reporters then learned Schmidt and Una were divorced three years ago.

Mrs. Fred Seaford, an aunt of the second Mrs. Schmidt, said her niece married Schmidt two years ago.

They had a 7-month-old son.

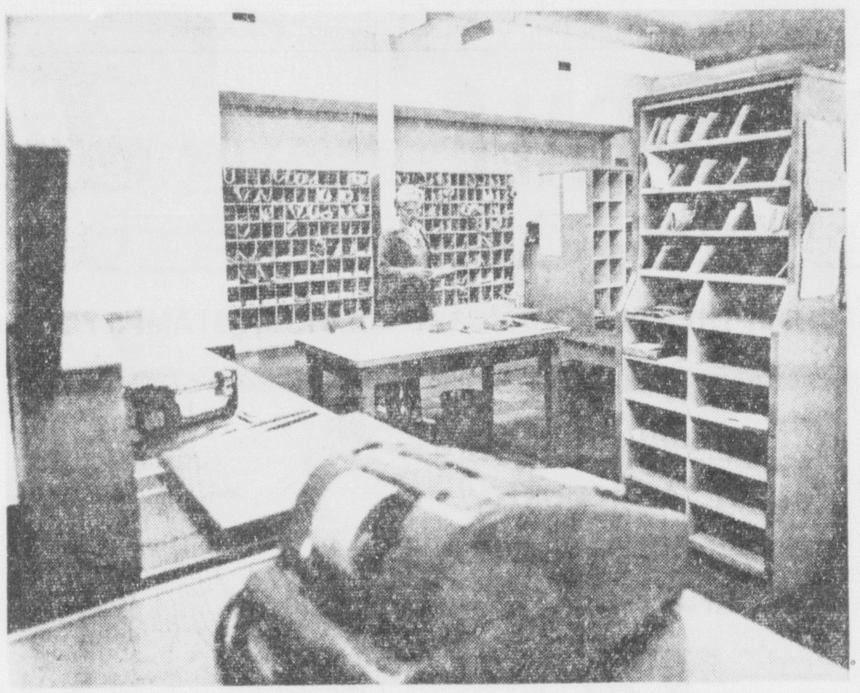
STINSON BEACH HAS NEW POST OFFICE

Stinson Beach residents witnessed dedication of their new post office building on Calle Del Mar in Stinson Beach Saturday. The first actual post office building in Stinson Beach, it is built of concrete and brick with a shake roof. Architect was D. Hugh Gregory Coleman of Ross; builder, Lucien Marsh of Stinson Beach.



CHECKING MAIL — Acting postmaster in Stinson Beach, Mrs. Harvey Zion, now works in brightly lit new quarters located in the Stinson Beach Shopping Center. Until completion of the building, she issued mail from Aiery's Store, where the post office was located 14 years. Mrs. Zion has a view of Stinson Beach State Park and the Pacific beyond if she glances out the window. (Independent-Journal photos)

Northwest Marin Schools Ignored

The Central Marin League of Women Voters is ignoring Northwest Marin in its study on how to reorganize Marin school districts.

Mrs. H. J. Compton, chairman of a league study group on reorganization which yesterday presented its ideas on reunification to league members, said the West Marin area is in a state of flux.

"If the Point Reyes National Seashore is approved and better roads are built in the area, it would have more of a community of interest with South Marin," she said. "Now, it seems to have more in common with Sonoma school districts."

Residents in West Marin are divided on whether to unify Tomales High School District and elementary districts within it or create a new high school district.

The league's plan for reunification creates one district around Novato, including Burdell and San Jose School districts; a second for San Rafael elementary and high schools and the Dixie district; and a third district for areas around the Tamalpais High School, including southern towns in West Marin (Point Reyes, Stinson Beach and Bolinas).

A state law passed in 1959 requires reorganization of school districts by 1963.

Bowler Sues Over Tournament Prize

A bowler from San Francisco, who says he won a bowling tournament in San Rafael but the prize went to someone else back in 1960, yesterday filed a $2,000 lawsuit against the Country Club Bowl and its operators.

George A. Cayssials alleges he entered the Country Club Bowl Trailer Boat Tournament, which was advertised to run from June to Sept. 25 of 1960. Cayssials says he bowled a scratch score of 877 on or about Sept. 17, 1960, which with an assumed handicap of 160, put him in first place.

However, the operators extended the date of the tournament for two more weeks, without the knowledge or permission of prior entrants, and announced the winner as a Zeno Gelatti Sr., the suit contends.

Cayssials wants to collect the prize as advertised—a 15-foot fiber glass boat with 35 horsepower motor worth $2,000.

Barbershop Song Fete Due Novato

"Down Memory Lane" is the theme of a singing show of the Novato Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, to be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday in Novato High School auditorium.

The Novato society men's chorus and seven quartets will participate. The quartets are the Golden Gate Harmony Four, The Redwood Chords and the Killed Aires, Marin organizations, the Barbary Coasters of Vallejo, the Plus Four from Monterey, and the Suburban Knights and Bay Town Four from Berkeley.

The Novato chapter was formed last September with James Heidinger as president and Kenneth Moran as musical director.

A charter recognizing it as an official chapter of the SPEBSQSA will be presented Saturday night by Barrie Best, far western district president who will come from Arizona for the occasion.

The chapter hopes to make the show an annual affair.

OUTSTANDING MARIN SENIORS

'Uncommon' Scholars Honored

Six uncommon young men and an uncommon young woman were honored yesterday in San Rafael by the California Savings and Loan League.

The seven, with parents and school administrators and counselors, were guests of the league's four Marin member associations at a luncheon at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club at which Ellsworth S. Briggs, dean of adult education at College of Marin, spoke on "The Age of the Uncommon Man."

Substantial reward went with the honor. Each of the seven received $100 and an engraved medallion.

The winners, selected by school officials as outstanding seniors in their respective high schools, are:

Susan Denman, Marin Catholic High School; Charles B. Cauldwell, Redwood High School; Robert J. Scott, Tamalpais High School; Carl E. Morse, Novato High School; Michael V. Gregory, Sir Francis Drake High School; Anthony M. Makisich, San Rafael High School, and Stephen James, Tomales High School.

Their selection came as part of the outstanding student award program initiated five years ago by the California Savings and Loan League. Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president of Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and chairman of the league's Marin school relations committee, presented the awards. Also present were representatives of Ross Valley and Tamalpais Savings and Loan Associations. R. Keith Dearth, president of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., was absent because of illness.

In his address, Briggs stressed that uncommon competition is resulting from the rising educational level in America, as well as from automation. But there are uncommon opportunities, also — with uncommon rewards for those who seize them.

Definitely not "the common run" were the seven students honored:

Susan Denman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Denman of 19 Pine Street, San Rafael, had been named only a day earlier as winner of the San Rafael Elks Lodge scholarship to an outstanding girl graduate of 1962.

She has also won a Bank of America trophy for mathematics and science, is a life member of the California Scholarship Federation and of Marin Catholic High's Honor Roll, and was a California state scholarship semi-finalist.

Marin College Hike In Taxes Is Urged

College of Marin must receive assurance of new funds immediately to cope with an inevitable jump in enrollment, four speakers said today on the radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board."

Appearing on the program moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, and to be rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, were Dr. Stephen E. Epler, president of the college; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, clerk of the board of trustees; Robert Rich, member of the college's citizens advisory committee, and Fred Winn, student.

All urged passage at the June 5 primary election of Proposition A. It would provide for a 35-cent increase in the college tax rate to raise $11,300,000 over 10 years.

The new revenue would be used to expand and improve the present Kentfield campus and acquire a second campus in North Marin on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The present college tax rate is 42 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This is a basic rate of 35 cents, plus two cents for employee retirement and five cents for community service.

Epler led off by reporting there are 110,000 full-time students now enrolled in the 70 California junior colleges—compared to 55,000 at University of California and its branches and 70,000 in state colleges.

"Junior colleges have 75 out of every 100 freshmen," he said. College of Marin now has more than 1,200 full-time students plus 2,500 part-time students, including adults at evening courses.

It took 26 years for the college to reach the 1,200 enrollment mark—but the next 1,200 will develop in less than 10 years, he said. "Skyrocketing enrollment" will bring 5,000 fulltime students by 1980, he said.

Rich said the citizens committee noted that higher enrollment standards at universities and state colleges were "throwing more students into junior college area." He said the present campus cannot handle any more students.

He said the tax increase was decided on as a means of saving six million dollars in interest payments on a bond issue.

Mrs. Deedy said trustees, administration, architects and citizens committee met many times over the past year to reach the decision for the tax rate increase measure. She said cost to a family owning a home with market value of $20,000 would be $16.10 a year; a family with a home valued at $30,000 would pay $24.15.

Mrs. Deedy said state law requires a new gymnasium to replace the present condemned building.

Winn said students needed a new student union building to replace the one "now in an old Army barracks." He said science laboratories were overcrowded, drama and music have no building of their own and are "pushed from room to room" and the clock system on the campus is broken down beyond repair.

Fisherman, Deputy's Good Memory Leads To Arrest Of 4 For Burglary

A discovery by a fisherman and the good memory of a deputy sheriff led to solution yesterday of two Novato burglaries within 24 hours of the time they were committed, Novato police reported.

Booked into the Marin County jail, with bail set at $1,050 each, were Thomas Howard Chance, 21, Gerald D. Rich, 29, and Richard L. Thorne, 20, all of 912 Railroad Avenue, Novato. Arrested with them was a 17-year-old boy who was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The first clue in the case came at 2:30 p.m. yesterday when a fisherman reported to Novato police that he had seen a safe in the Petaluma River at the new Black Point boat ramp.

It turned out to be the still-unopened safe taken the night before from Garatti Motors at 7090 Redwood Highway, with money and papers inside.

Deputy Sheriff William Bradford told police he had seen a car with Chance, Rich and Thorne in it under the bridge at 2 a.m. yesterday.

Subsequent investigation by the Novato police linked the men with both the Garatti burglary and that at Oscar's paint store at 1222 Grant Avenue on the same night, in which $25 was taken from a cash register.

Move Of Warriors Touches Off 'War'

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Open warfare flared on the professional basketball front today following the announcement that the Philadelphia Warriors would be moved to San Francisco for the 1962-63 season to campaign against the Saints of the American Basketball League.

A syndicate composed mostly of San Francisco men put up $850,000 to purchase the Warriors, including the fabulous Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, and the team will open here in the fall.

Along with the announcement from the National Basketball Assn. of the move, came a flat statement from the owners of the Saints that they would be ready to do battle.

"We already are negotiating to get Chamberlain away from them," said Kevin O'Shea, general manager of the Saints. "He has his 1962-63 contract to play out, but we hope to get him for the following season."

The Saints had announced earlier they would file a $3 million dollar suit against the NBA on an anti-trust basis.

Negotiations to bring the Warriors to San Francisco had been going on for more than three months. NBA owners turned down the proposal less than three weeks ago but reconsidered and voted for the move, 7-2, at a New York meeting yesterday.

The objectors were the Boston Celtics and the New York Knicks. They apparently are afraid that San Francisco would be placed in the Western Division and that they would lose the great drawing power of Chamberlain for their home games.

Eddie Gottlieb, the man who collected the $850,000 for sale of the Warriors, said after the sale there were no immediate plans to bring another team to Philadelphia.

At their earlier meeting, NBA owners had insisted that if the Warriors moved out of Philadelphia, Gottlieb should replace them with a "representative" team.

Addition of the club in San Francisco now sets up a natural rivalry with the Los Angeles Lakers.

It is expected that Frank McGuire will remain as coach of the Warriors.

"I'm looking forward to meeting the new owners," said McGuire after the transfer was announced. "Then we'll see."

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

M.V. Links Drops Marin Amateur; Blum Off To Fast Start As Pro

For the first time in umpteen years, the Marin County Amateur Golf Championships, a popular outing for the county's hackers, won't be staged at Mill Valley this year.

And it won't be played, period, unless one of Marin's other courses assumes sponsorship.

That's the word from Mill Valley pro Malcolm Brown who tells us he's washing his hands clean of the event. "It's just too much of a headache," exclaimed Brownie, "to put on such a large tournament on a nine-hole course like ours. Heck, there are plenty of 18-hole courses in Marin that can handle it much better."

Any of the 18-holers interested?

Further news from Brownie:

MILL VALLEY City Amateur Golf Championship, heretofore a match play competition, is going to be switched to medal play this year.

Brown decided to make the switch after talking to several golfers who like the medal competition better.

Brownie has set Labor Day weekend for the qualifying round.

RON BLUM

A REPORT on Marin's four pro baseball rookies is encouraging this week.

Ron Blum of Larkspur made his debut with the Burlington, Ia., Pirates of the Class D Midwest League and batted a sparkling .318 for his first week's work. Infielder Ron, formerly of Marin Catholic High and College of Marin, had 7 hits, including a double, in 22 at bats, scored 2 runs and batted in 5. He's with the Pittsburgh farm club.

Doug Wilson, also of Larkspur (and where does li'l old Larkspur get all that talent?), is still going great guns with the Baby Giants at Fresno. Last week Doug collected 8 hits in 29 at-bats for a .276 avg., but his season's output is still a lusty .339. According to reports from the Giant front office in S.F., Fresno Manager Sal Taormina is high on Wilson's chances of making it to the big time.

Marin's two Tiger (Detroit species), outfielder Vince Pallavicini and pitcher Nino Geminiani, both of San Anselmo and both with Detroit's Thomasville, Ga., team in the Georgia-Florida circuit, also did well last week. Vince batted .429 last week with 29 at-bats, 9 hits, including 3 doubles, a triple and a homer, and 5 runs-batted-in. His 7 doubles on the season lead the league and his season batting average is .333.

Meanwhile, Geminiani finally broke into the victory column after three earlier defeats. He worked two games last week, won one of 'em and in 10 innings struck out 8 batters. He's still a bit wild, however, walking seven during the week to raise his season total to 34 Annie Oakleys in 20 innings.

THREE FORMER Marin prep huskies are candidates for U. of Cal football positions next fall, according to the Bears' spring training report.

They are guards Rick Weil (220, 6-1), and Mike Hoffman (190, 6-0) both from Redwood High, and Novato alumnus Hans Lindholm (213, 6-4), a tackle.

THEY SHOULD consider changing the name of the Meadow Club to the Medic Club, judging by the entry list for the club championships last week. Five doctors were in the semi-finals or finals.

Doug Ford's Festival Is Underway

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The "500" Festival Golf Tournament, better called the Doug Ford open, today starts its 72-hole run on a fast track at Speedway course.

The 39-year-old Ford, who surprisingly rates second behind Arnold Palmer in the PGA's modern era money list, already has pocketed $18,000 as winner of the first two "500" tourneys.

He is favored to grab his third successive $9,000 first prize against some 143 pro rivals lured by this $50,000 golf event which stirs the holiday atmosphere for the Memorial Day auto classic.

Skipping this affair, which is played partially inside the famed 2½-mile racing oval, is leading money winner Palmer, taking a brief respite from the tourney grind.

Santa Clara and Fresno will meet Friday night and Saturday afternoon with the third game, if necessary, also scheduled for Saturday.

San Rafael Wins Final, 6 Straight

Coach Jack Sims' San Rafael Bulldogs, under the strong arm of hurler Jack Sovereign, have ended their varsity baseball season on a high note.

Sovereign hurled a two-hitter yesterday against the Redwood Giants to pile up San Rafael's sixth straight Marin County Athletic League victory. The score was 7-5, and gave the Bulldogs a 6-6 record to tie with Sir Francis Drake and Tamalpais for third spot in the loop's final standings.

Redwood had already clinched second berth. Coach Al Endriss' crew concluded the season with a 7-5 count.

Yesterday's big hitters for San Rafael were first baseman Rod Monti who cracked out two for four, including a double for two RBIs, and Dan Bell, who had a perfect day at the plate (2-2) and drove in one run.

For Redwood, losing pitcher Mike Telegin got one of the team's two hits in the first frame and Bob Jordon got the other one in the fourth inning.

Yesterday's makeup game between the Giants and Bulldogs concluded the 1962 MCAL baseball season.

Giants Back In Old Form

June has been the proverbial month in recent seasons for the San Francisco Giants to fold up, but they are getting a running start on things this year.

"We've been playing very poorly," Manager Alvin Dark said after last night's 10-7 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Phillies in S.F. "That's about all there is to it. But I'm sure that we'll get going again."

Juan Marichal (7-3) who claims that he is recovered from a wrenched knee, got the assignment this afternoon to end the Giants' skid. He faced Cal McLish, who broke into the majors 18 years ago and currently sports a 4-0 mark with the Phils.

Philadelphia, ending a losing streak of four, sent the league-leading Giants down to their third straight defeat last night. It also was the sixth reversal in eight games for the Giants, who now only lead Los Angeles by a game and a half in the National League battle.

SMALLEST CROWD

Playing before the smallest Candlestick Park crowd of the season — 7,314 — the Giants committed four errors during a sloppy contest. The weirdest came in the seventh inning when catcher Ed Bailey tried to nail a runner at third base after Jack Davis had fanned. The throw nicked Davis's bat, went wild and the runner scored.

Lost in the shuffle of miscues and sloppy baseball was some fine pitching by right-hander Art Mahaffey of the Phils. He had a four hitter going as the seventh inning started. Then he sustained a cold in his right arm after walking the first batter and gave way to Frank Sullivan.

The Giants made hay off big Sully and Jack Baldschun, who relieved him before the inning ended. The pair was tagged for a total of five runs in three complete innings.

INSURE VICTORY

But the Phils already had scored enough to insure Mahaffey his fourth run against five losses. Don Demeter drove in three markers with two hits and a sacrifice fly.

Lefty Mike McCormick, now 1-2, started for San Francisco and was taken out midway through the fifth inning. He was charged with four earned runs and six hits. The Phils got off to a fast start with a three-run blast in the first frame that saw the first four batters get on base.

The Giants never recovered, although they got a home run out of Willie McCovey. "Stretch" also fanned three times.

Prep Grid Practice In County

By PAUL MILLER

The Marin County Athletic League's first spring of football practice is underway minus bumps, bruises and cotton mouths.

Yesterday six teams, including rookie Terra Linda, had their first day of spring grid practice in the league's history. Generally it consisted of lectures and demonstrations in fundamentals and observation of player potential by full staffs of coaches. It was the first spring sessions ever permitted by the MCAL.

Teams starting practice yesterday include Novato under Olsen, Drake under Bob Franceschini, Tamalpais under Pete Belden, Terra Linda under Pete Limm, San Rafael under Bob Muster, and Marin Catholic.

Nearly 110 athletes turned out at Novato, home of coach Marlin Olsen's MCAL varsity champions. As at most schools, both varsity and junior varsity squads worked together. Most of the spring practice sessions will continue from one, to one and one half hours per afternoon through June 1, and some through June 2.

Most of the coaches are emphasizing skill workouts, rather than conditioning programs. Olsen described it as a learning program for both players and coaches, the mentors attempting to learn early their best prospects for the fall season.

The only extra equipment permitted by the MCAL for the sessions are helmets and cleated shoes. Abnormal body contact used in blocking and tackling is prohibited.

Olsen said his staff is working youths in the development of three major offensive plays that must be done well. He said his backs, who will be running off a T formation next year, looked good yesterday, and his line looked green. Seven veterans will be back in action to defend the title.

Sixty-five gridders who signed up at Drake went through group sessions with a staff of four coaches, including backfield coach Carl Brown.

"In these practices we are looking for specialists in punting, placekicking; people who can catch, who have speed, and can cut well," said Brown. He said instruction and demonstrations were also given in fundamentals. Brown said the coaching staff in a meeting after yesterday's practice decided to cut the sessions by one half hour. From now on they'll be an hour in length, "snappy, Intensive."

He said several gridders, including veterans, will not attend the sessions. "They have jobs after school and we felt it wouldn't be right to make them quit just for the 10-day program," explained Brown.

Limm and his staff put 83 prospects through a session of basic skills.

If Giants Lose 1962 Pennant Race, Blame It On Plane Ride

HANLEY

LOS ANGELES — There was more buzzing and fussing aboard the Giant charter plane flying down here Monday than normally takes place around a queen bee in her hive.

You'd have thought Alvin Dark's bombers were leading the pack into the September stretch instead of being the May league leaders as they have been without exception since they moved to the Golden Gate in 1958.

The charter was loaded with so much brass it's a wonder that Capt. Jack Bridgman, the same skipper who took it into Salt Lake City three weeks ago on three engines, got it off the ground.

Horace Stoneham, president and owner of the ball club, was aboard. So was vice president Cub Feeney. Garry Schumacher, public relations chief who usually delegates the road chores to his statistician Art Santo Domingo, also made the trip. Jerry Donovan, custodian of Candlestick Park; Tom Sheehan and his assistant scout, Hank Sauer; Bob Lurie, a member of the ball club's board of directors, and John Livingston, a merchant prince, rounded out the distinguished delegation.

There were more than enough seats aboard the DC7 for everybody since Dark, his three coaches, and 25 ball players never occupy half the seats available. However, the inevitable gin rummy games were pressed into tighter quarters this time.

THE CARD GAMES, incidentally, became the prime target of a movie camera crew that also managed to hitch a ride for a feature report on how the Giants travel. A national magazine writer, also along for the ride, took it all in stride. He explained his publication date was six weeks in advance so he already had written his story.

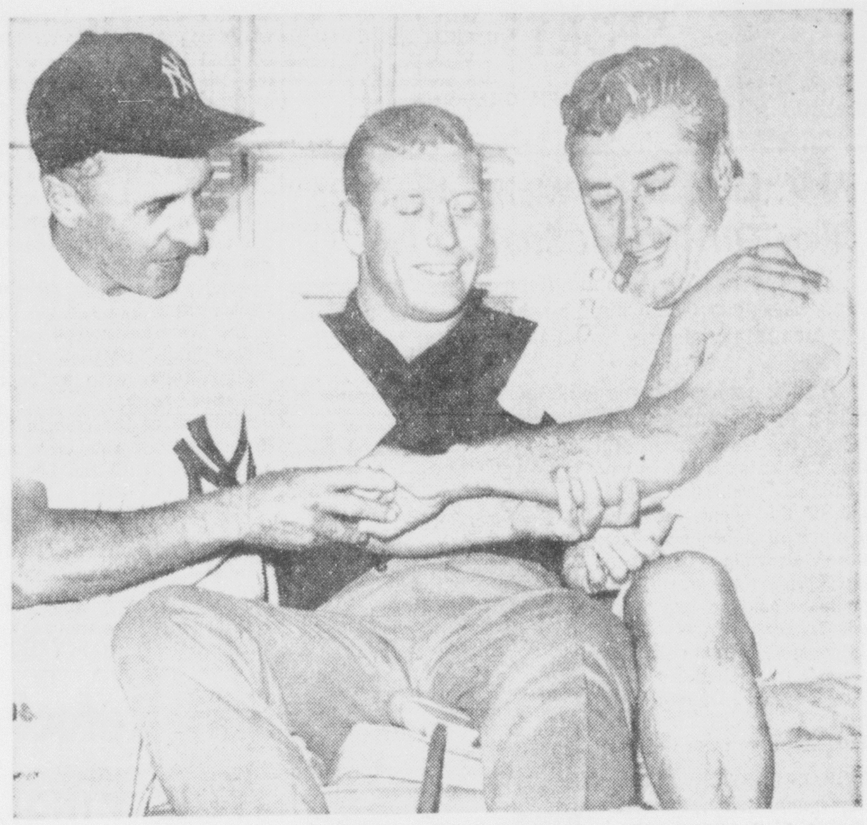
The fact that one of the cameramen pre-empted our farthest forward seat in the plane—the one with the window that looks out on the engines to the starboard side — didn't bother us. We knew the seat afforded his wide-angle lens a perfect position to do its work.

However, Wes Westrum, whose seat is the farthest forward on the port side, wasn't completely convinced we did the right thing in yielding to the movie man.

"I just hope all this razzamataz don't jinx us," said Westrum.

BALL PLAYERS are a superstitious lot, as everyone knows. They don't like changing seats, sox or hats when a club is going good.

So if the Giants should fail to bring in the 1962 National League pennant you'll know it wasn't due to anything that took place on the baseball field. The real reason may be attributed to what happened aboard the Giant charter May 21 while flying to Los Angeles —the day we lost our seat.



YANKEE STARS IN SICK BAY

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Tribe's Donovan Wins 8th; Dodgers Creep Up On S.F.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Remember the hard-luck Dick Donovan of just a year ago, with that disheartening string of five successive one-run losses? His luck is a little better this season and so's his record—8-0.

The big right-hander became the first eight-game winner in the majors last night when the Cleveland Indians cut loose with another eleventh-hour home run attack and overpowered the Chicago White Sox 5-4. Pinch hitting rookie Al Luplow and Chuck Essegian connected back-to-back in the ninth inning as the Tribe won for the third time in a week with ninth inning homers.

By winning the squeaker, Cleveland remained a half game behind the top-place Yankees, who buried Kansas City 13-7 with a nine-run eighth inning triggered and capped by rookie Joe Pepitone's home run blasts. Boston beat Minnesota 6-1 and dropped the Twins to third, one game back. Washington whipped Los Angeles 7-2, while Detroit and the Orioles were rained out at Baltimore.

In the National League, Philadelphia handed San Francisco's first-place Giants their third straight loss, 10-7; Los Angeles tripped New York 3-1; Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 6-3; Houston shut out Cincinnati 2-0 and Milwaukee beat Chicago 4-2.

Donovan was tagged for 10 hits, one a two-run homer by Al Smith in the first, but singled in one run himself as the Indians stayed close to the White Sox all the way.

Dom Zanni, who had pitched strongly in relief of Juan Pizzarro, was the victim of Cleveland's uprising in the ninth. Luplow led off with his score-typing homer into Comiskey Park's lower left field deck and Essegian promptly zeroed in on the same sector.

The Dodgers cracked a 1-1 tie in the eighth. Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly knocked in the winner before Frank Howard's grounder added an insurance run. The victory was Drysdale's sixth against three losses. Roger Craig (2-5) went the distance, allowing 11 hits.

The Pirates jumped on Larry Jackson (4-5) for four first inning runs. Ken Boyer homered for the Cards and Bill White went 4-for-4 but it wasn't enough. Harvey Haddix (3-2) got the victory with relief help from Tom Sturdivant and Diomedes Olivo.

Johnson's five-hitter gave him the edge over Reds' starter Bob Purkey, losing his first after seven triumphs despite holding the Colts to eight hits.

The Braves snapped a 2-2 tie with two runs in the sixth on a walk, an error by Ron Santo, Mack Jones' single and a double-play grounder by Del Crandall. The unearned tallies handed winless Glen Hobbie his sixth loss. Spahn (5-4), ending Milwaukee's four-game losing string, moved within three victories of 10th place on the all-time victory list.

No Competition For Offys In 500-Miler

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Louis Meyer three-time winner of the Memorial Day 500-mile race and builder of the old reliable Offenhauser engine, says he and partner Dale Drake have no firm plans for a new power plant.

"It's not our fault that we have no competition at the Speedway," says the amiable Californian. "Anybody can build an engine to the race specifications."

Offys have won every Indianapolis race since 1946, when George Robson took the first pre-ward 500 in a six-cyliner Thorne-Sparks car. Most of the vehicles in that event were so elderly the question was whether anybody would finish.

All of the qualifiers in the 46th "500" next Wednesday are powered by Offy 4s except the rear-engine Thompson Special with a modified V-8 Buick Special block, which grand prix driver Dan Gurney will start.

The remarkable thing about the Offy is that the design hasn't been changed for 32 years. The winning speed in the 500 has gone up from 100 to more than 139 miles an hour in that time. The qualifying record has jumped from 122 to 150.

There have been improvements in metals and changes in bore and stroke, but the Offy still is substantially the same engine Leo Goosen designed for Harry Miller 32 years ago. Fred Offenhauser, Miller's shop foreman, took over the plant and gave the engine his name. Meyer and Drake bought it from Offenhauser in 1946.

San Anselman To Show Ford At Santa Rosa

John DeCarlo, 111 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo, will show his original 1932 Ford coupe at the Santa Rosa Auto Show this weekend.

Six years of work have been invested in the three-window coupe. DeCarlo has used only stock components on the Ford. The car took first place at the Corte Madera Concours d'Elegance in 1960 and third place in the Dominican concours the same year. DeCarlo's Ford will be one of some 70 personalized cars, sports cars and antiques on display at the Sonoma County Fairgrounds Friday night, Saturday and Sunday.

The Santa Rosa Auto Show opens Friday at 6 p.m. and at noon Saturday and Sunday.

NFL Bosses Reward Rozelle

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League has extended another solid vote of confidence in Commissioner Pete Rozelle by voting him a $10,000 bonus and boosting his salary $10,000 to $60,000 a year for five years.

In less than two years, the successor to the late Bert Bell has led the league to a clear cut court victory over the rival American Football League and helped clear the way for a new $9.3 million two-year single network (CBS) television deal.

As a result of the court victory the league no longer lives under the shadow of a huge damage action. Under the new TV contract each club is expected to get $320,000 a year from the TV rights.

"We have no further expansion moves in mind until our two newest clubs (Minnesota and Dallas) are soundly well off the ground," said Rozelle, when asked about the future.

The league set the date of Sunday, Dec. 30 for the 1962 championship game to be played in the home park of the Eastern Conference winner. The Playoff Bowl game between the two second-place teams will be moved back from Saturday to Sunday, Jan. 6 at Miami's Orange Bowl. This move was made possible by the cooperation of the Pro Bowl promoters in Los Angeles who will permit players to report the night of Jan. 6 for their Jan. 13 All-Star Game.

MARIN PROP WASH

By ELEANOR FREEMAN

Play It Safe—Insure Your Boat; Costs Less Than Sleeping Pills

To insure, or not to insure? You shouldn't ask this when you're behind the wheel of anything—including a small boat. A simple declaritive sentence is enough. You do need insurance. The California state law states clearly that the owner of a vessel is liable. It's true that the high hazard of automobile travel is missing in the field of boating. Yet—as in any sport—there is always a relative degree of risk.

The physical aspects of a boating accident differ also. No skid marks. Often no witness. And craft, unlike an auto, will not always obligingly stay at the scene of impact. You could be bobbing about in your life jacket, sorrowfully regarding an oil-slick and a few gurgling bubbles. A requiem to what was three years of magnificent sacrifice.

Any of Marin's insurance companies will be glad to offer you expert counsel on your own insurance requirements. We interviewed three Marin agencies, receiving the following information:

IF YOU carry a Home Owner's policy, you are probably covered on necessary liability. The California state law defines this as $10,000 for injury or death to one person, and $20,000 for two persons.

Your hull, accessories and motor can be insured for less than one year's supply of sleeping pills, because you will never be wakeful at night, wondering if some boat-hungry night-sneak is towing your boat off to Baja California. Leaving you with 29 payments left on same.

As a broad example of what you could expect to pay, we quote you a near figure on the following: A 16-foot hull, 75 h.p. motor and standard accessories. Taking variables into consideration, a $24 per year premium would be close.

Marine insurance is, of course, accorded with certain reservations. Any strictly off-beat craft would be regarded as high risk. An 8-foot pram with a 40 h.p. motor would be classed as a hysterical version of suicidal intent.

QUESTION: I have difficulty keeping my battery sufficiently charged. A weekend or two of boating, and it's down again. Is there an easy answer?

M. R., Fairfax

ANSWER: A trickle charger is good, depending on whether you want to take your battery out each time and hook it up. More expensive, yet infinitely rewarding, is one of the new generator kits. Most of them are high-output 12-volt units with foolproof current and voltage regulator plus ammeter, which installs into the dash-board.

QUESTION: I am contemplating a changeover to the in-board-outboard drive. What are the advantages and disadvantages involved?

L. T., San Rafael

ANSWER: You can enjoy the fuel saving associated with this type power plant. Exhaust is cleaner. Idling is quieter and smoother. No more mixing oil with gasoline! But remember, you now have an enclosed engine which could drip gasoline into the bilge. Observe precaution as you would with an inboard. Close hatches, ports and doors when taking on fuel. Air out before starting the engine—and take a sniff-test. A marine-type bilge blower is good equipment.

QUESTION: My neighbor has a good buy in a fiber glass boat; however, a dollar-sized hole was punched in toward the bow. It has been patched, but is neat and seems strong. Is this a safe buy?

Art J., San Rafael

ANSWER: Yes, if the patching was done properly. Have someone okay it for you who is experienced in fiber glass.

THIS COLUMN is slanted toward the interests and problems of Marin's small-boat owner. We will gladly answer questions as promptly as space permits. Address your queries to Independent-Journal, Prop-Wash, Sports Department.

Soph Is Top Tam Track Star

The track and field most valuable athlete award at Tamalpais High has been given to Ellis Williams, the only sophomore in the school's history to receive it.

The presentation to Williams and others was made Tuesday night at the Tam Benchwarmer's annual spring sports banquet. Other most valuable awards in varsity sports went to swimmer Jack Mosher and outfielder-pitcher Dave Perlis. Most inspirational honors were given swimmer Tinsely Stetson, track athlete Paul Ferran and outfielder Larry Pierce.

Most improved honors went to swimmer Bob Scott in the varsity division and in the class B to swimmer Richard Stewart, and track athlete Fred Harris; in Class C, to Marvin Green; in Jay Vees to baseball player Larry Brady and to Frosh baseball player Lee Lyons.

Tam Soph Only Unbeaten Golfer In Marin Loop

Tamalpais sophomore Elwood Fink, third man on the school's varsity golfing team, has the rare distinction of being the only competitor this year in the Marin County Athletic League to be undefeated.

Fink, who jumped from sixth to third man this season for coach Paul Wata's crew, has won 11 and tied one match on the MCAL tour. He led the Indians in upsetting MCAL champions San Rafael with a tie during the season when he was the contest's medalist with a three-over-par 36 at Mill Valley Municipal. Fink also fired a two-over-par 38 at Peacock Gap for a win.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Late Trout Season Opens Saturday; Start Planning For Pack-In Trip

STEVENS

Saturday will herald the late opening day for trout. It will be legal to try for trout in the northwest corner of the state thereafter until one hour after sunset on Oct. 31. The limits is 10 trout or salmon in combination, but not more than 10 pounds and one fish.

As it was with the April 28 opener, there are certain exceptions and closures in the late opener. Consult your 1962 sport-fishing regulations booklet for the lowdown.

While on the subject of trout fishing, now is a good time to plan that pack-in trip to the high country. It's too early to get to most of the mountain lakes and streams at present on account of trail blockage from snow and still frozen lakes, but not too early to make arrangements for a trip in July or August.

IN EVERY sense of the word, a pack trip is an adventure, such as you have read about when young, where you were transported to a different and exciting world, where the orderly routine of life becomes more indistinct every mile you travel . . . and paved highways, and telephones, and electric lights, and TV and movies and the odor of burned gasoline and the clatter and bang of traffic and dishes and radios blaring—all that is left behind.

ON THE trail everything is different, is almost primeval. You become a pioneer making an exploration trip. Your nostrils will quiver with the elusive aroma of pure, cool, multi-scented mountain air. Your eyes will become brighter; your gaze more penetrating. You will view great vistas green-clad hills and snow-capped mountain peaks, breathtaking in their majesty. You will revel in the knowledge that you, a puny, untutored human, can traverse the great distances, scale the steepest slope and ford the swiftest stream and can, by a gentle nudge of your heel or a slap of the reins, guide the sure-footed horse you are riding.

AS YOU reach the crest of some mountain peak, you see, far below, a small mountain lake nestling against a towering wall of sheer granite on one side and framed on the other three sides with trees and bushes and lush meadows. It is your objective. You are within a few minutes of where you will camp — where you will have the finest trout fishing possible to obtain any place, any time. The water is cold, the fish are hungry and solid and as gamey as they come.

Any person having made a pack-in-trip will remember to his dying day the experience. There are dozens of places where a pack trip may be had and the cost is reasonable. How about it?

Las Gallinas Winner

Dorothy Ballantine of San Rafael scored a 16 to take low putt honors Tuesday at the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club. Shirley Harleen of San Anselmo was runnerup with a 17.

Tiburon-San Francisco Ferry Service Reports Profit

Present 150-passenger-daily support of charter commute ferry service between Tiburon and San Francisco is enough to net a small profit, and opening such service to the public should provide a thriving return, it was testified yesterday at a California Public Utilities Commission hearing in San Francisco.

The hearing was on application by Harbor Tug and Barge Co. for a common carrier passenger certificate. Revisions in operating plans, costs and schedules were outlined by the firm's president, Albert D. Elledge, who turned out to be the sole witness of the day.

His attorney, John P. Lyons, explained that there had been inadvertent failure to publish the required legal notice of hearing.

Another hearing was therefore set for the same place, the State Building, at 10 a.m. June 21, at which any public witnesses may appear.

An amended statement on fares said the intention is to charge 80 cents each way or $1.50 per round trip, with no charge for children under 5 years of age, 20-round trip commute tickets to be priced at $27 and usable within 45 days.

Weekdays the schedules would include operation of two vessels each making two round trips morning and evening, Elledge testified.

Departures from Tiburon Mondays through Fridays would be: 6 a.m., reaching San Francisco 6:30; 6:35, arriving 7:05; 7:05, arriving 7:40; 7:40, arriving 8:20.

From San Francisco the corresponding departures would be: 5:15 a.m., arriving Tiburon 5:50 to make the first trip from Tiburon; 5:45, arriving 6:25; 6:25, arriving 6:55; 6:45, arriving 7:25.

From June 1 through Sept. 10 the Saturday-Sunday schedules would provide for one round trip mornings and afternoons. The first would leave San Francisco at 10 a.m. reaching Tiburon at 10:45, leaving at 11 and returning to San Francisco at 11:30. The second would leave San Francisco at 3:30 p.m., arrive Tiburon at 4, leave at 4:10 and reach San Francisco at 5.

Between Sept. 11 and the end of May the schedule contemplates only on-call service on two hours notice for groups of 15 or more adult passengers.

Elledge gave a statement of estimated revenues and expenses for a year, based on the present 150-passenger average and 260 days.

At $1.50 a round trip this worked out at $202.50 daily and $52,650 for the year.

Costs of two vessels worked out at a total of $24,952.20. Overhead and supplies brought the total expense to $49,170, leaving a net operating revenue of $3,480 which would be reduced by $1,809 income tax to a final $1,671.

But on cross-examination Elledge pointed out that the figures were based on the present limited charter service, with expectation of much wider patronage if a certificate were obtained.

3-Year-Old Girl Takes Unattended Ride In Auto

Three-year-old Nancy Harvey of Mill Valley rode unattended Tuesday in her parents' car out of the Harvey garage, across the street and into the neighbor's carport railing. She was unhurt.

Mrs. Earl Peak, the neighbor, reported to police that at about 2 p.m. Nancy apparently released the car's emergency brake while it was parked at 40 Millside Lane. It crossed the street and hit and broke the railing. Nancy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Harvey Jr. Mrs. Peak lives at 33 Millside.

Public Property Supt. John J. O'Rourke says the spring has been on park department land "as long as anyone can remember."

The spring has been piped to facilitate filling jugs. People come from miles around daily to get their supply.

KEEPING HUSBAND ALIVE

Does He Drink In Secret?

By KENNETH HUTCHIN, M.D.

When wives discuss drink, they are apt to be blinded by considerations other than those of health. A husband, they always feel, may get into trouble. He may get into debt from drinking too much, and this may have terrible consequences. They may occasionally think in terms of personal annoyance and disgust.

It is not my concern to discuss moral issues, but I think I can quite definitely say that drink is not a work of the devil. Taken in small quantities, especially on returning home in the evening from a hard day's work, it helps a husband relax, dilates his arteries and improves coronary circulation.

But if drink is taken to excess at any time it acts both as a nerve poison and a gastric irritant. In chronic alcoholism its constant irritating effect in the stomach causes chronic gastritis. This prevents the absorption of Vitamin B, and polyneuritis may occur with weakness or some paralysis of the limbs. Also it is possible for minor degrees of Vitamin B deficiency to occur in people who think they drink only moderately.

MOST MEN DRINK because they like it. The alcoholic detests the stuff but drinks because he has an inner compulsion.

Drink habitually taken to excess harms a middle-aged man in several ways. It acts as a direct poison to the heart muscle and causes fatty degeneration. It prevents the absorption of Vitamin B, which has an indirectly injurious effect on the heart muscle, and it acts so that the body lays down fat. It also may increase the amount of cholesterol in the blood. It injures the mucous membrane of the stomach.

For a man to go on drinking after it has been shown that alcohol is causing liver damage is simple suicide. The only way to arrest the process is to stop drinking altogether.

MANY MEN WHO become dependent upon alcohol are suffering from malnutrition. This is partly because they do not eat enough food and partly because they do not absorb efficiently what they eat.

At least some of the effects on the liver are due to lack of protein, so that all those suffering from liver disease, or any of the effects of habitual alcohol excesses, require a rich diet of proteins. Additional vitamins will be required in large dosage, especially all members of the Vitamin B complex and Vitamin C. In the beginning, the best way is by injection. These vitamins are essential to prevent damage to the brain and nervous system.

In only a few cases can an alcoholic give up liquor without psychological support and some form of drug treatment, but care should be exercised not to substitute one poison for another.

Although it is fashionably flippant to refer to social soaks as chronic alcoholics, the two groups are really quite distinct.

The social soak never minds discussing his drinking habits with his doctor (or anyone else). He is quite frank and usually surprised that the quantity he drinks should be though excessive.

IF HE DRINKS ALONE, he probably only has one drink which he takes because it happens to be due at that time anyway. He is capable of going for quite long periods, such as a few days, without a drink. This type of drinker is helped by being advised by a doctor to reduce or give up his drinking habits. This strengthens his will power and provides him with the valid excuse which he feels is necessary to give his friends when he refuses a drink.

The chronic alcoholic, on the other hand, is suffering from a mental illness which urgently requires treatment, possibly in a mental hospital with a department specializing in alcoholics where he can mix with people fighting the same sort of battle.

As a social problem, the magnitude of alcoholism cannot be exaggerated. According to a reliable estimate, there are five million alcoholics in the United States, which in proportion to the population is a much higher figure than the number in Britain.

Alcoholism is a disease which has dire effects on the victim, his wife, his family and his business. It disrupts every aspect of life for him, and if it is allowed to continue without decisive treatment, it will lead to progressive, unreversible deterioration in his physical and mental health.

ABOVE ALL, IT is necessary for the victim himself to want to be cured. The time comes in the life of the majority of alcoholics when their desire to be cured is suddenly put into the form of a cry for help. When the appeal for help comes, it must be answered as a matter of extreme urgency. Family doctor, psychiatrist, minister, priest, social worker, wife, and family must all pull together.

One of the most important steps is to put the alcoholic in touch with Alcoholics Anonymous. This magnificent organization has saved, and is saving, thousands of alcoholics all over the world, but here again they are powerless unless the alcoholic really wants to be helped.

Prevention of alcoholism is more important than its cure. To achieve this it is necessary for doctors to make contact with alcoholics during the early stages. If a wife is going to be able to bring the doctor and alcoholic together at this early stage she must know what her husband is heading for if she does not do something. It is no good hiding from the facts. She should be suspicious that her husband is an early alcoholic if he becomes untruthful about his drinking, or about other matters. She may find that he pretends he does not drink at all, although she has clear evidence that he does, such as the smell of his clothes.

COMPLETE MEMORY blackouts may be a pointer. Secret drinking or gulping down drinks without tasting them are also a sign. The man who is obviously giving a great deal of though to supplying himself with drink, while avoiding any reference to the subject, is definitely heading for alcoholism.

Respect For Domesticity Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—If women did not have a low grade opinion of their own value around the house, at least one Very Important Working Mother would have a lot less work to do.

She is Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and director of the Women's Bureau.

As such she has recently been busy urging Congress to eliminate inequities in wages, job and advancement opportunities among some 25 million women in the nation's working force.

But she also wrinkles her brow about two other problems: the working mother's need for dependable help at home, and the need for more employment opportunities for the mature woman without previous business training or experience.

These two dilemmas could solve each other, and industry could benefit at the same time, points out Mrs. Peterson who has four young Petersons at home. "But everybody has to have a little more respect for domesticity. We need to make it a bit more of a profession.

"Who has already had success and experience in raising children and taking care of a home? Why, older women, of course," the tall, handsome blonde sometimes answers her own questions.

Eating Should Be Fun—Too Many Interfere With Baby's Mealtime

Does your baby enjoy eating? Does he latch onto the nipple, gurgle contentedly and slurp away until he is full? I hope so. Eating should be fun.

Too many of us interfere with our babies' meals. We're afraid they'll get too much, or too little. We think they eat too fast or too slowly. We slap their feet, then ram the nipples into their protesting mouths. Or we jerk them out before they're full. Then we wonder why we produce finicky eaters.

Breast feeding is better than bottle feeding. Most studies indicate that breast babies get more security and companionship from their mothers than bottle babies. There are other advantages. Breast babies never get scalded with hot formula, nor frozen with cold. The nipples they use don't clog easily. Nor do they weaken suddenly and deluge the poor things. Their food doesn't give them allergies either. As I see it, the worst thing about modern mothers is their unwillingness to nurse their babies. Over half of them rely on the bottle. Their babies are the losers, frequently.

Weaning raises new problems. Most of us try to wean our babies too early. We expect them to handle mugs and spoons before their muscles are mature. We push solid food down their gullets before they're ready to handle it. It is better to go slowly. Be the last to wean your child, instead of the first. Let him progress at his own deliberate speed. Praise his successes, but don't punish his failures. Remember, eating should be fun!

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Are there characteristic differences in the physical development of breast-fed and bottle-fed babies?" MRS. R.

(A) Bottle-fed babies are more apt to be allergic. Other than that there appear to be no significant physical differences. The more important differences are emotional, and they favor breast-fed babies.

Mount Carmel Library President Enjoys Cooking, Good Music

Mrs. Douglas R. Ahlstrom, as new president of the Mount Carmel Library Guild in Mill Valley, is eager to publicize the character and services of the library, which the guild was founded to support.

The library is located in the Mount Carmel School and will be housed in the new church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel when it is built.

"It is not a parish library," said Mrs. Ahlstrom. "It is a special library to be used in conjunction with the public libraries, and it is for the general use of Marin County.

"Its purpose is to have on hand the latest and best books of Catholic authors in order to increase the Catholic's knowledge of his religion and to make available information on Catholicism for the general public.

"The library has over 1400 volumes of adults' and children's books. For adults there are philosophy, theology, history, biography, spiritual reading, poetry, travel and mystery stories. The children's library has a wide variety of secular books, including science, art, how-to-do books, biography, poetry and history.

MRS. AHLSTROM

Mrs. Ahlstrom has been a member of the guild three years and was librarian coordinator two years ago.

A native of Honolulu, Antoinette was graduated from high school in Honolulu and attended Marymount College two years. She worked in a Visitors' Bureau in Honolulu two years and then handled publicity there for United Airlines.

She and her husband, a special agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and their five children have lived in Mill Valley nine years. The children are Deborah, 9; Harry, 8; Catherine, 6; Kenneth, 4, and Craig, 2.

Mrs. A. W. Gallagher Named To Second Term As President

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Mrs. A. W. Gallagher's election to a second term as president of the Sausalito Nursery School, according to other members, is evidence of the admiration and affection they have for her.

Said one of them, "there are many different, and often opposing points of view within the school, and Hildy has the knack of giving all of them expression."

During the three years Hildred Gallagher has been a member, she has also been house tour chairman three years and spring dance chairman last year.

She believes that the school provides pre-school children with the kind of activities and association which help them to develop and prepare for entry into school in a smooth transition from home to school. Next year's activities for mothers will include several fund-raising events for school maintenance and improvement, as well as dinners and work weekends.

A native of San Francisco, Hildred attended Stephens College in Missouri for two years, and Stanford University, where she majored in English literature. During 1958-59 she was a director of the Stanford Women's Club of San Francisco.

MRS. GALLAGHER

She is also an active member of the Sausalito Woman's Club.

Mrs. Gallagher has the distinction of having been a ghost writer for a dog named "Ricky" and wrote a weekly column of Confucius-says-type epigrams under his name in an advertising-public relations publication.

Hildred is married to Alfred Gallagher, a certified public accountant. They have lived in Sausalito four years and have two children, Philip, 5; and Hildred, 4.

Mrs. Gallagher's favorite activities are cooking, reading, writing poetry and fiction — strictly for her own pleasure, she says—and traveling.

Before attending college she lived in Panama six years and Guam one year. Two years ago she toured Europe and last spring went to the Caribbean. She will spend part of this summer in Hawaii and go to New York in the fall.

Other officers of the Sausalito Nursery School are Mesdames Jack Tracy, first vice president; James H. Burton, second vice president; Leon D. Adams, treasurer; Brian T. F. Rowlands, corresponding secretary; John E. Koenig Jr., recording secretary; Stanley J. Wolfe, car-pools chairman; Walter L. Benson, purchasing agent; and John Camp, publicity.

Ross School Family Day Set June 1

Parents, students and the staff of Ross School will participate in the annual Family Day to be held on June 1.

The event at the school grounds is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m. with folk dancing and ball games, followed by dinner at 5 p.m.

Gaily decorated booths will line the grounds, according to chairman, Mrs. Ray Hubbard.

Assisting Mrs. Hubbard with arrangements are Mesdames David A. Gregg, co-chairman; Malvern S. Dorinson, finance; James E. Peggs, cake booth; Arthur Argiewicz, make-up; Gaylord Maclise, cotton candy; Vivian Felton, penny toss; Van Logan, dinner; John McGee and Mr. William Bricca, games; Sumner Orr, beverages; John F. Weaver Jr., clean-up; and William Hendricks, publicity.

Guests may bring their own dinners or purchase home-baked food furnished by the Ross P-TA.

Baptist Mission Society Head Also Active In Dancing Group

Mrs. Clark Holmes must have a natural talent for handling official duties, for she has been elected time after time to positions on the executive board of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church of Mill Valley.

She has just been elected president for a second consecutive term, and she served as secretary for five of the 12 years she has been a member.

The society is primarily a service group which in addition to its help to overseas and local missions, has undertaken such projects as sending books to Juvenile Hall, aiding immigrant workers and placing Indian children in private homes for vacations.

Mrs. Holmes says that members are at present engaged in collecting money, in conjunction with two other churches, to purchase a dryer for the Scandinavian Seamen's Home in San Francisco. And they are also raising funds to buy a Jeep and hospital supplies for a missionary in Haiti.

MRS. HOLMES

Dorothy Holmes teaches Sunday School and as a former deaconess of the church. For two years she was a Cub Scout den mother and for three years a Girl Scout leader. She is a member of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

She and her husband are active in the Southern Marin Folk Dancers group, and she enjoys bridge, sewing and cooking.

Her husband is a civil engineer with a consulting engineer firm in San Francisco. They have two children, Linda, 13; and Scott, 10.

The family has lived in Belveron Gardens for 12 years.

Nun Writes Mysteries To Help A Mission

QUINCY, Mass. (AP)—A Roman Catholic nun is writing murder mysteries to help a Puerto Rican mission.

Sister Paschala began writing mysteries after an instructor at Creighton College, where she was studying on a fellowship, told her he was "tired of your sweet little stories . . . Let's have something meaty."

She turned out a magazine murder mystery that brought $50 which she contributed to the poor of the Dominican mission in Puerto Rico.

Funds acquired through the sale of all her mysteries will go to the poor of Puerto Rico, Sister Paschala says.

Sister Paschala, now a teacher at St. Catherine's Junior College near Lexington, Ky., is the former Leone Noonan of Quincy.

Bag-Watching Can Make Trip Easier

CHICAGO (UPI) — Taking a trip? Give your baggage an even chance to keep up with you by following these tips:

Remove all old luggage checks from the bags. Identify all with tags stating your name, address and phone number. Count your bags when arriving at or departing from hotels and airports—and when getting in and out of vehicles.

Arrive at the terminal in time to check in without having to hurry. When making reservations for interline connections, allow enough time for your luggage to be transferred.

The tips also included a caution to keep an eye on your bags when riding from an airport into a city by limousine.

When other passengers are discharged before you, make sure your luggage is not accidentally disembarked with them.

President Sue Bowyer will make the disclosure to the 60 club members following a potluck dinner in the home economics department of the school.

In addition, an award will be presented to the girl accumulating the most service hours to school and community during the past semester.

Former club presidents, Nancy McGee and Marianne Schuite, as well as Miss Bowyer, will be presented with mementos by faculty advisor Mrs. Carol J. Neumeier.

The dinner will follow a Greek motif in decorations and entertainment and will feature a display of letters and cards from the clubs "adopted" Greek family. The girls have been contributing to the support of the John Yiotas family of northwestern Greece for two years.

Corte Madera Woman Named To 'Y' Office

Election of Dr. Dorothy E. Wells of Corte Madera as a vice president of the San Francisco YWCA as been announced by the Y's board of directors.

The San Francisco YWCA includes a unit in Marin which is located at 1010 B St., San Rafael, is headed by Mrs. Herbert C. Gans of Petaluma, and conducts self-supporting classes and United Crusade-financed service programs throughout the county.

The San Francisco board also announced re-election of Mrs. Arthur D. Hemphill of San Francisco as president, of Mrs. George D. Geis of Sonoma as treasurer, and of Mrs. Keene O. Haldeman of San Francisco as a vice president. Other board officers, all newly elected, include Mrs. Malcolm S. Watts, vice president, Mrs. D. Donald Glover, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Takeo Okamoto, as recording secretary.

Announcement of the newly-elected YWCA leadership was made at the YWCA's annual meeting dinner. Lucy Schulte of Sausalito, director of the San Francisco YWCA, presented the annual report message, indicating an increase in members who have been deeply involved in United Crusade-supported service programs conducted by the YWCA.

PEDIATRICIAN SAYS

Nazis' Youngsters Proving That Babies Need Affection

MUNICH (AP)—A German pediatrician says that children born in the Nazis' World War II Lebensborn baby farms were mentally and physically backward because of lack of parental care.

He says a similar fate threatens many children in the 1960s when both parents go to work.

Under the Lebensborn project, "Nordic" males — mostly officers of the SS guard—were mated with selected "Aryan" volunteer girls. The idea was that the offspring be raised outside any "weakening" family influence.

Prof. Theodor Hellbruegge of the Munich University's Pediatric Clinic, says he examined a group of Lebensborn children before they were adopted after the war.

"THEIR FACES were strikingly pretty," he recalls. "They were blond and blue-eyed but completely emaciated. If you got near to them, they showed the typical empty stares of idiots."

"These children were mentally and physically backwards, they were most serious cases of psychic starvation."

The Nazis planned that the Lebensborn children, after growing up in selected educational institutes, would eventually form the leadership elite of the Reich.

According to unofficial estimates, some 11,000 children were fathered in 18 hostels of the Lebensborn setup.

Prof. Hellbruegge says he is still reminded of this Lebensborn experiment when child patients are sent to him from homes where care is lacking.

"WE ARE BEING asked to find out whether these children have a feeble mind. When they are given to a nurse who has strong motherly affections they are back to normal within a few weeks; they laugh again and pick up weight."

Prof. Hellbruegge says that many modern mothers "think they have to go on working so they can make enough money to spend on the children, for better dresses and play rooms. They put the children into day schools—I think they should be called 'day orphanages'—and then they wonder why the children do not thrive.

Crittenton Circle Benefit Show To Be Marked By Parties

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Before and after theater parties are being planned by members of the Marin Florence Crittenton Circle for their May 29 benefit showing of the Fernandel classic, "The Sheep Have Five Legs," at the Fairfax Theater.

Mrs. G. L. Elbert, Jr., secretary of the circle, will be entertaining the Curtis Terrells and the Laurence Ketts of Mill Valley, the Marvin Fields of Belvedere and the Clark Reynolds of Tiburon. The treasurer, Mrs. J. Reger Jebson, has asked Mr. and Mrs. John Yates of San Rafael and the Richard Nelsons of San Francisco to be her guests.

Mrs. Chaylon R. Brown of Novato will entertain the Gordon Walkers, his mother, Mrs. Virginia D. Walker, the Larry Keanes and Rheinhart Steinleys. The senior Mrs. Walker, who lives in Houston, Texas, is visiting her son and his wife at their home in Marin Golf and Country Club Estates for two months.

Mrs. Robert Fibish of Mill Valley will be entertaining the Stanley Levins, Arnold Goldmans, and Miss Elaine Gallant of San Francisco, the Monroe Winstons of Belmont and the Melvin Lembergers, Marvin Kurets and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Flax of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Edward B. Hayden, public relations chairman, will have as her guests the Thomas B. Kelleys, Walter R. Haydens, Mason E. Kline, Jr., Miss Jean Jerrissen and John L. Lilienthal of San Francisco; the William Logans of Mill Valley, the Jason H. Mardens and Laurence Smith of Lagunitas, and their Tamalpais Valley neighbors the Karl Zipfs at an after theatre party.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR in the Bay Area, Mrs. George Bowden of Porto Nous, near the city of Palma on the island of Mallorca was honored at a cocktail party given last week by Miss Sybil Conklin and Mrs. Sylvia Conklin King at their home in San Anselmo. Attending were about 25 long time friends. The hostesses and Mrs. Bowden, the former Dinah Moore, were classmates at Miss Head's School in Berkeley. Mrs. Bowden is the daughter of the late Andrew Moore, head of the shipbuilding company.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowden have a beautiful home not far from the humble home and birthplace of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the Franciscan chain of missions in California. She assisted in the restoration of the Serra home. Money for it was provided by San Franciscans and Spain, and for promoting good will between Spain and the United States she was presented with the Order of Isabella by the Spanish government. She was the first woman to receive such an honor. The first person so honored was Christopher Columbus. The United States ambassador to Spain presented Mrs. Bowden with a scroll and the Society of California Pioneers also honored her for her work.

Mrs. Bowden arrived on a chartered plane from Spain. Also aboard were Spanish dancers and exhibits for Spain's entry at the World's Fair at Seattle. Among the exhibits are pieces of antique Spanish miniature furniture. The miniatures were made so that owners of large homes of long ago could see what the furniture they ordered would look like. Also displayed will be Spanish art and handcraft, embroidary, lace and pottery.

The Bowdens' son, George Bowden Jr., who speaks Spanish fluently and now lives in Victoria, B.C., is in charge of the Spanish exhibit at the fair. Mrs. Bowden also went to San Diego to see Spain's permanent exhibit at the museum.

RECENT VISITORS at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. (Gus) Colvin of Del Mesa, were his brother, Norman Colvin of Waltham, Mass. and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Heman Rice of Montpelier, Vt. Gus hadn't seen his sister for 13 years. The Easterners motored across the continent and went to Pasadena first to see another sister. Gus and his wife took their visitors to many places of interest in Marin and San Francisco. It was their first time in the west. The travelers left Saturday for Seattle to see the World's Fair.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM C. PAULEY of Mill Valley are receiving congratulations on the birth of their daughter born at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco May 12. The little one, who has been named Pamela Ann, has a two year old sister, Patricia Marie. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Pauley for a month have been her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Dannewitz of St. Louis, Mo. They leave for their home tomorrow. Paternal grandparents of the little girls are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pauley of San Francisco.

John Taleri Costa Claims Bride

When Ragnhild Roenvinge Johnsen became the bride of John Taleri Costa Saturday afternoon at Stewart Memorial Chapel at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, she wore an ankle length white satin brocade gown. Her tulle veil was held by a coronet of pearls.

Dr. Gurdon Corning Oxtoby, dean of the faculty of San Francisco Theological Seminary, long-time friend of the bridegroom's family, officiated. The matron of honor, Mrs. James Parker of Sausalito, formerely of Oslo, Norway, home of the bride, wore a champagne slipper satin gown. Royal blue were the slipper satin gowns of the bridesmaids, Bjorg S. Hansen, Bodil Andvik, formerly of Norway, who now live in San Francisco, and Jill Cordwell of Engladn, now a San Franciscan.

The bridegroom's two nieces, D'Arcy Detner, 11, and Elizabeth Ann Zec, daughters of Mrs. David Zec, wore organdie frocks.

The bridegroom's father, Adolph Lodovico Costa of San Anselmo, was his best man. Guests were escorted to their pews for the 2 o'clock ceremony by Michael Robert Boswell, Peter Hall Jordan, Barry Thomas Jordan of San Francisco, and Aubrey Allen Cavey of Seattle, Wash.

A reception at the Kent Woodlands home of Mr. and Mrs. Zec followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds were honeymooning in Yosemite Valley. Later they intend to go to Norway to visit the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Johnsen of Oslo. Mrs. Johnsen was ill and unable to attend the ceremony.

John and his bride will reside in Sausalito.

Bright Polish And Wigs Are Forcast For Summer Resorts

Predictions of things to come on the beach this summer:

You'll be seeing wigs, wigs and even more wigs in resort areas: you'll be wearing bright orange polish and brilliant pink lipstick together and girlish hair bows to match; eye make-up will make a splash in sea and sky colors; and sun lotions will be worn as moisturizing skin treatments as well as for sun protection.

For daylight hours keep your own hair short and sweet and wear perky bows to match a lipstick or eye shadow placing them at the prow of your forehead to accent a swirl of bangs or aft-wards at the nape of the neck to camouflage straggly hair. For sundown hours, the new fashion wigs are cover-ups after a day on the beach giving you a well-turned-out look in seconds for an evening on the town.

Eyes come in for fashion fun in or out of the water. The newest in sunglasses are the new Italian wrap-around ones that give you clear viewing at every angle. Underneath, they suggest wearing a thin film of eye oil to counteract squint lines. You'll love wearing the new eye make-up while sunning. Its new cake form stays on perfectly, and it's fun matching or clashing to colors to your bathing suit — blue, green, lavender and avocado are just some of the rainbow of colors.

Use the beach this summer for trimming off inches. There is nothing more limbering than building sand castles, playing hop scotch or running along the water's edge.

The first days out under the sun, take along a kitchen timer in your tote bag to safely tick off your sunbathing. Start the season off with 15 minutes on one side and 15 minutes on the other side. And, by all means wear sun protection in the form of a suntanning lotion that includes the luxurious moisturizer to keep your skin soft and supple as you tan.

Sunbathers, beware: Fragrance is a sensitizer, avoid wearing it directly on the skin before going out in the sun. Instead, spray it on a scarf, handkerchief, or the corner of your beach towel and you'll enjoy its pleasant scent all through the day.

Chinchilla Show Bid Is Status Raiser—

NEW YORK (AP) — Name-dropping is a passe technique for impressing people. Now, to show that you are really Somebody, you mention your invitation to see the new chinchilla fashions.

Everybody who is up on that sort of thing knows that you would never receive one unless you are known by the list makers, not only to have plenty of dollars, but the desire NOT to be included among the mink-clad masses.

Chinchilla constitutes about 3 per cent of the fur market, while mink has 88 per cent and little prestige left, points out E. G. Streets, president of a chinchilla organization in Tacoma, Wash. He personally has no desire to increase chinchilla's availability, even if it were possible.

Would Zsa Zsa Gabor appreciate her $40,000 chinchilla jacket if her maid was running to the supermarket in one? Would Rita Hayworth have been nearly as grateful to her husband Aly Khan for $90,000 worth of chinchilla pelts if any number of white collar girls were making time payments on some, too?

Hardly, says Streets, whose wife has two chinchilla coats and "not too many places to wear them."

Made-up chinchilla skins cost from $90 to $150 each, depending on quality. A stole requires 30 to 40 skins, and a jacket up to 50. A full length coat can, and supposedly did, cost Howard Hughes $125,000 in change.

Because even the scraps are expensive, it is also unlikely that next year's crop of silly gifts for persons who have everything will include chinchilla embellished tooth brushes, beer can openers or eyelashes. But mink has reached this poor, down-trodden status today.

The chinchilla fur, composed of multi-fibered black and white hairs that appear blue altogether, is difficult to work with, which accounts for its high cost. It takes seven weeks of highly skilled workmanship to accomplish what can be done in seven hours on mink, Streets points out.

REP. MILLER SAYS:

White House Conference On Conservation Opening

By REP. CLEM MILLER

WASHINGTON — The first White House conference on conservation opens today in Washington.

The conference brings together for the first time conservation leaders from throughout the country for a face-to-face exchange of views with administrators of federal natural resource programs.

It is a direct result of President John F. Kennedy's recent special conservation message to Congress and of the report submitted to the president and the Congress in January by the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission.

The discussions will include all natural resource conservation problems with special attention to the nation's outdoor recreation needs. Laurence Rockefeller, chairman of the recreation review commission, will moderate a conference panel on "Conservation for the 1960s."

Invitations have gone out to 250 persons from a wide range of backgrounds—but all interested in conservation.

Those invited include state governors, members of Congress, heads of federal agencies concerned with natural resources, heads of volunteer conservation organizations and industry associations, and private citizens.

I feel honored to be included among those invited. This invitation reflects recognition of the tremendous importance to the Redwood Empire of conservation (i.e., wise utilization) of our natural resources.

Cabinet officers who will take part include Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall (National Park Service, Bureau of Land Management, Mines, Reclamation, etc), Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman (Forest Service), Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff (Public Health Service water pollution control work, etc.), Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr (Corps of Engineers), and Administrator Robert C. Weaver of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (urban area open-space and planning grants).

The president will address us tomorrow morning.

The conference is symptomatic of current ferment and reappraisal regarding all our conservation problems.

It has at least three purposes:

1. Explanation by Administration officials of what they are doing in the various conservation fields and what they propose to do;

2. Reaction of conference participants to these programs, and expression of their views on what are the major and most critical conservation problems;

3. Views of participants as to solutions to these problems—particularly how the task should be divided among the local, state and federal governments, private business and industry, and volunteer citizen groups.

As the representative of a relatively undeveloped region on which federal natural resource policies can have a decisive influence on economic growth, I am heartened that the president has called this conference.

As the president said in his conservation message, in the work of conservation, "actions deferred are frequently opportunities lost, and, in terms of financial outlay, dollars invested today will yield great benefits in the years to come . . . enabling us to repay our debt to the past and meet our obligations to the future."

Man Suspected Of Two Thefts At Same Bar

A San Rafael man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of burglary of a bar twice within three days.

Daniel Howard Hubbard, 20, an unemployed laborer was arrested at his home at 13 Linda Way, Santa Venetia, by San Rafael Police Sgt. Carl Selby and Officer Gilbert Freitas.

Hubbard is suspected of looting the Cellars Bar at 534 Third Street of $234 and 11 bottles of whisky early last Friday and again on Monday of $48 in cash. Entry was gained both times through a street level window into the basement.

The owner, John Paul Mangini, failed to report the second burglary until today. He had also failed to replace the open window through which the thief entered, he said.

Hubbard was arrested after two other suspects had been questioned and released.

Space Explosion Could Touch Off War

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI)—A vast explosion in space that knocked out worldwide communications might lead either the United States or Russia to think the other side was starting a nuclear war.

Yet such an explosion could be entirely natural, a British scientist said today.

E. M. Cade, a former scientific officer at the British Admiralty and a radar expert, said such a global blackout out could be due to the explosion of a supernova (a giant star) somewhere in our own galaxy.

Such a fantastic explosion might happen at any time, Cade said, and might even be said to be "overdue."

"Records kept by the Chinese and going back 2,500 years show that we can expect a supernova on the average of once every 150 years in our galaxy," he said. "Yet there has not been one now for 358 years—since the astronomer, Johann Kepler, saw one with his naked eye, before the discovery of the telescope, on Oct. 10, 1604."

One of the main objectives of the present American series of nuclear tests the detonation of a so-called "rainbow bomb," is an attempt to see if an enemy, by exploding a hydrogen bomb in the atmosphere, could knock out the electronic defenses of the free world.

Whether a man-made bomb could cause such world-wide havoc will have to await that or other tests.

But Cade believes a supernova moderately "close" to earth—say only 700,000 times further away than the sun—would wipe out television programs completely, perhaps for a year and seriously affect, if not render useless, civil radar with consequent disruption of the airport control, storm warning and navigation services that depend on it.

"The military early-warning radars are far more powerful, but they, too, would be severely damaged and so would the satellite communications links," Cade said.

Cade believes the Free World should protect its communications by putting as many as possible underground and by investigating which wave lengths do not penetrate the ionosphere (the electrified layer around the earth) and switch our communications to those.

"We had an inkling of how solar and stellar events could affect our communications during the war," Cade said. "Early in 1942 our early warning radar chain was jammed and we thought the Germans had discovered how to knock it out while they mounted an invasion.

"Research units all over Britain worked frantically to locate the source of the interference. Then it was found it coincided with a sun spot."

Again in 1944, the British were thwarted, he said, in their efforts to locate the German V-2 rockets by long-range radar because of more mysterious interference—eventually tracked down to radiation from the constellation of Sagittarius.

Recreation Director Applications Due

Deadline for applications for the position of recreation director for the summer recreation program in Marin City is May 30, Juanita Cobb, secretary said today.

Applications may be sent to the district in care of Mrs. Cobb, Post Office Box 838, Sausalito. Applicants will be interviewed May 31 in the community lounge. The summer program will be at the Manzanita School June 18 through July 27.

Larkspur Again Holds Up Medical Building

The Larkspur Planning Commission for the second time Tuesday night held up action on a proposed medical building because of dissatisfaction with parking arrangements.

Plans for a 12-suite medical building were again submitted to the planners by the San Francisco architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill. The building is proposed for the southwest corner of Bon Air Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The plans showed parking space for 64 cars. Commissioners asked that 25 per cent more spaces should be included.

A medical group, headed by Drs. C. R. Leininger and Arthur R. Albin of San Rafael, submitted a report stating that only about 57 per cent of the doctors in the center would be there at one time. The commission decided, however, to again discuss the matter at its next meeting June 12.

The commission set a public hearing for 8 p.m. June 14 on a new zoning ordinance.

San Rafael Firm Gets Job Of Building Bank

A contract has been awarded to the William H. McDevitt Co. of San Rafael by Crocker-Anglo National Bank for construction of a new and bigger building to house its Petaluma office.

The main floor will have 7,600 square feet and there will be a 1,550-square foot mezzanine with 12 teller windows and four loan department windows on the main floor as well as a vault. The bank's farm department will be in a special section opposite the teller windows.

Grasshopper Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Parched fields in western and midwestern areas are braced for an onslaught of grasshoppers. The agriculture Department reported the pests are infesting nearly 13.5 million acres of range in 15 states, three times as much as in 1960.

Mardi Gras was brought to New Orleans by early French colonists.

It is crafted in genuine Bangkok Teak or Brazilian Rosewood veneer on solid laminated wood core. No parts of reprocessed woodshavings or other "make-do" materials are used. All shelves and cabinets have beautifully sculptured solid Teak edges.

We are confident in stating that this is the most "up to date" and versatile of all Danish imported wall-mounted furniture on the market today.

The "Imperial Wall System" at present consists of eight cabinets, two desks, a dropleaf table and shelves in four different depths. The basic width for all units is 35½". All cabinets have rich oak interiors.

Because of our "Direct-Import" policy, this magnificent wall system is not higher in price than any other Danish imported system, while it is more functional and far superior in quality! It truly is a lifetime investment.

We invite you to come and see our complete display! The Mobilia stores will permanently stock all units, thus assuring the possibility of adding to it at any time.

We, of course, will be glad to assist you in planning your wall arrangements either in our store or in your home.

Coakley Right Type Of Man For Attorney General's Job

As in many of the statewide elections this year, the Republicans have a doozie going and the Democrats have a no-contest situation in the attorney general race.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk has no one filed against him in the Democratic primary. In the Republican, however, two legislators and a superior court judge are indulging in some rather heated debates.

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen of Los Gatos is giving up his seat in the lower house to seek the office.

Sen. Richard J. Dolwig of Atherton has a free ride in that, if he loses, he still has two more years to serve on his current term in the State Senate.

Superior Judge Tom Coakley of Mariposa will still have his seat on the bench even if he doesn't win.

All three of the GOP candidates are attorneys. Allen and Dolwig have similar qualifications—a legal practice with service in the legislature, Dolwig there the longer. Coakley hasn't the legislative qualification, his has been more judicial after an active private practice and three years as a deputy attorney general under Earl Warren.

All three have similar programs of (a) better leadership than Mosk has been offering, (b) tougher penalties for narcotics crimes, (c) a crackdown on juvenile delinquency, and (d) a hard line for communists.

Allen and Dolwig might be called "harder on everything," with Coakley using a more practical approach to problems.

We don't know too much about Allen. His performance in the Assembly has never impressed us and he has spent little time in Marin trying to get his position across.

We know more about Dolwig. He's been in the news here on several occasions over the years and on each one he has been opposing something the people of Marin wanted to do.

Coakley, a one-time band leader, was formerly a Democrat; he became a Republican shortly after Governor Brown was elected. But his record has been that of a successful and respected attorney and judge. He was president of the San Francisco Bar Association; was elected to the Board of Governors of the State Bar, the seven-man governing body for every attorney in the state; is a member of the Judicial Council of California, the 18-man council which is the operating and policy agency for all courts in the state.

As a superior judge in Mariposa County, where cases are few, he has been assigned to sit on the superior bench in 39 of the state's 58 counties, including most of the big ones and Marin. Thus he has a broad knowledge of problems of law enforcement throughout the state in addition to personal contact with attorneys, judges and peace officers.

We don't agree with Coakley on his stand that the Francis Anti-Communist Amendment should be passed because the courts will protect the individuals entangled in it. We think the law should protect them from the beginning. But we do think he is the type of man who should be selected by the Republicans. We urge his nomination.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Here's What A Man Does When Traveling With A Candidate

By CHAPIN A. DAY

'CHIP' DAY

Marin's roving Assemblyman, William T. Bagley, sneaked away from the Nixon caravan long enough for two days at home this week. Yesterday he rejoined the Nixon entourage, with whom he has been traveling all month. What does an assemblyman do when traveling with as vocal a gubernatorial candidate as Richard M. Nixon?

To begin with the campaigning party is made up of Nixon, his personal secretary, a press secretary or sometimes two, a traveling secretary who makes travel arrangements, a communications secretary in charge of everything from telephone calls to telegraph facilities for the newsmen, and Bagley.

Bagley describes his job as three-fold:

1. As a press liaison man, not releasing news stories, but acting as a source man and a troubleshooter if press relations haven't been of the best.

2. Contact man with local Republican committees, talking with individuals, considering local problems, and reporting to the committees on how the campaign is going and what needs doing.

3. Being "another ear and voice" in developing "approaches and techniques" in the day-to-day operation of a campaign.

"This isn't setting campaign strategy or anything like that," Bagley said. "We all sit down and talk over where we go from here. We all kick in ideas and discuss the other guy's, that's all."

But that's enough to keep him at work full time.

How's it going?

"Dick's reception is continuing superb," says the assemblyman.

At San Diego, for example, there were 4,000 in the Hoover High School (where Joe Shell went to school) stadium; later there were 1,200 in a hall designed for 800 at La Jolla, and still later the same day 1,500 "shirt-sleeved Republicans" jammed into a bowling alley at Escondido.

"It's been like that every where. At Riverside 1,000 persons waited in the rain until we arrived, and as soon as we arrived the rain stopped," chortled Bagley.

The thing Bagley hadn't expected was to find Nixon so sensitive. "They talk about him being cold, but it's quite the other way around. Little things affect him, a barb from someone he's shaking hands with, an adverse press report, a loaded question; he's too sensitive to them. You'd think he'd be used to them by now, but he's not," says Bagley.

NIXON'S OPPONENT, Assemblyman Joseph Shell, may get back to Marin County once more before the primaries. His backers are working now to get him here sometime in the middle of next week, possibly Memorial Day or the day after.

MARIN REPUBLICAN Council had a fine turnout for its family picnic Saturday on Angel Island. You'll pardon us if we liked it particularly because the three major candidates didn't show up until after the brief speeches had been made.

Too late to be vocal were Don Clausen, aspirant for Congress, Loyd Wright, a U. S. Senate candidate, and Virgil Hollis, a shoo-in for county superintendent of schools.

Wright is due to speak tomorrow at a 7:30 a.m. breakfast of the Republican Alliance in Bob's Edgewater, Corte Madera.

SEN. RICHARD RICHARDS, Democratic aspirant for Thomas Kuchel's U. S. Senate seat, will be in Marin County all day Saturday, including a dance that night.

He starts with a luncheon at the Dr. Russel Merret home in Kent Woodlands, will be greeting people around the county in the afternoon, be honor guest at a pot luck dinner put on by the Tiburon Peninsula Democratic Club, and wind up the day at a county-wide dance on Juanita's Galley in Sausalito.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Cease Aiding Red Conspiracy

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

There have been many statements in the past advising Americans that this or that policy is aiding and abetting the international communist conspiracy. Let us not speculate but, instead, see what the Communists say for themselves . . .

The "People's World" May 19 issue reports the luncheon address in Portland of Caltech chemist Dr. Linus Pauling to the Fifth Annual Peace Workshop of the Methodist Federation for Social Action. This organization is described in the 1961 "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications" as follows: "With an eye to religious groups, the Communists have formed religious fronts such as the Methodist Federation for Social Action."

Dr. Pauling was identified under oath in 1952 by Louis Budenz, former editor of the Communist "Daily Worker." Budenz testified: "In connection with Dr. Pauling's many memberships in Communist fronts, I was officially advised on a number of times in the late forties that he was a member of the Communist Party under discipline. The Communist leaders expressed the highest admiration for and confidence in Dr. Paul. ing."

The "People's World" reports that the peace workshop also heard from Mrs. Carol Urner of the Portland Women for Peace and then passed the following resolutions: Admission of Red China to the UN, resumption of trade with socialist countries, support of the UN bond issue, repeal of the McCarran Act, a five-year statute of limitations in the McCarran-Walter Act, extension of the student exchange program, and a test-ban treaty and disarmament under adequate inspection and control.

This IS the Communist line. At a crucial time in our history when J. Edgar Hoover has pointed out that failure to recognize the fact that one-third of the peoples of the earth are now controlled by the world-wide Communist bloc and minimization of the danger inherent in the currently constituted Communist Party, U.S.A., will be at our peril, should we not as patriotic Americans who love this sovereign republic cease to aid the communist conspiracy?

Let us, instead, write to our congressmen and ask that they demand that our State Department replace their "no-win" policy with one that will win the Cold War and maintain the sovereignty of our nation.

Funny To Call Right 'Extreme'

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The contest of the left to perpetuate the falsity that the right is "extreme" is beginning to get hilariously funny, if it were not so serious.

We will probably have continuation and supporters of that so successful communist slogan, "It is just as bad to go too far right as left" for some time to come, but since the public now recognizes that fascism is only another brand of communism, i.e., left and has identical roots, subtler semantics have to be used by the left.

The public repected "radical conservative" as a label for the right as too ridiculous. So now we have the spectacle of "moderation" versus "extremism." How many months or years will it take for the public to comprehend that such are a matter of fervor, presentation, judgement, and most important the 'suasion of the reporter and his editing boss, to be found at any point of the spectrum?

So, the left, who for so long hid under false liberalism, are now "moderates?" And the "peace makers," who now fail to collectivize with "collaboration" and "co-operation" have become "gradualists?" "Merely opinions" have put over half the people under communism. Let's now recognize, that contrary opinion is necessary and RIGHT!

It's an old English custom to stand for the right. There's even a hymn written about it. Let the middle of the roaders stay there, if they so choose, leaning left due to controlled communication. The middle of the road is a very dangerous place to stand these days. These voiceless people are the same, who throughout history never knew what hit them.

What sick jokes are the dear high school lads and lassies exchanging these days? Well . . .

1. "I guess I've lost another pupil," sighed the professor as his glass eye slid down the drain.

2. James McNeill Whistler came home one evening to find his mother sprawled out on the living room floor. "How come, ma?" he chided her. "You off your rocker?"

3. "Better hurry over here, Mom. Junior just ate the raisins off that sticky brown paper."

4. "But, Oswald, that isn't our baby." "Quiet, you fool; it's a better carriage."

Fourth-graders in a class for gifted children were asked by their teacher to complete a sentence beginning "Let's be as quiet as . . ."

Here are some of the answers, as reported by William Feather: "A leaf turning colors . . . a feather falling from a bird . . . time passing . . . the first star coming out . . . a gentle rainfall . . . when you pray . . . a butterfly flying . . . a soft breeze."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

Forsaking Newspapering Means Leaving Many Things I'll Miss

I come from a long line of forebears who, at about the age of 50 (sometimes 60), pack their bindles over their shoulders and set out into the wide, wide world to seek their fortunes.

Following tradition, I am forsaking the newspaper business and, a week from tomorrow, will begin writing for television, the medium known to some as the Magic Eye, to others as the Idiot Box.

Inasmuch as I am being hired as Brains (not Talent), I will not be seen on local screens, which is probably just as well. Even though, in the television industry, Talent commands more loot than Brains, becoming an anonymous stream of words has definite advantages.

FOR EXAMPLE, most newspaper men of my acquaintance who have gone into television writing tell me they soon overcome the habit of looking over their shoulder toward the city room door as they write copy.

This fearful habit stems from the ever-present threat of an Irate Reader, often armed, breaking into the newsroom demanding to know the whereabouts of Billy Byline, the illiterate dog who wrote yesterday's story which has brought Irate Reader's blood to the boiling point.

Of course, no longer will I bask in the glory of by-line stories of courtroom battles, a terrible loss to any ego of long standing.

CONVERSELY, I will never again be squeezed between a district attorney and a defense lawyer, each wanting to know why I wrote what I did about him. And why didn't I say it this way?

I will definitely not miss city council and planning commission meetings which last well beyond the wee hours because of that garrulous minority of officials who love to hear themselves talk.

Nor will I miss those rainy days when, pressed into service as a photographer, I am dispatched to photograph a pet kitten stranded on a floating log during the season's first storm—a must picture for any city editor worthy of the title.

It would be a pleasure to think I will never again have to decipher press releases, those unintelligible pages of gibberish dealt out like playing cards by so-called public relations experts. But, unhappily, I am told these flacks also find their way into television studios.

NONETHELESS, the things I will miss outnumber those I can do without.

I recall with deep pleasure each of my interviews with Marin's exchange students as they returned from overseas after months with adopted families—families who gave them a new outlook on their world and led them to look beyond the narrow horizon of Belvedere.

I think happily of my dealings with Marin's teachers, cops, lawyers, school superintendents, Boy Scouts, bartenders, waitresses, hodcarriers, politicians and switchboard operators. Most of them, that is.

Of these, I will mostly miss those who have become personal friends during my years as a reporter of the Marin scene.

TO THESE, I say a fond goodbye as I pack my dictionary, my limp edition of Strunk and White's "Elements of Style" and my tattered copy of the Brown Act, that bit of legislation dogeared from waving in the faces of public officials who insist they are entitled to hold official meetings out of earshot of the public.

And when the TV rating people call to ask what program you are tuned to, tell them you are listening to something I wrote. You just may be, at that.

WALTER LIPPMANN

British Common Market Entry Could Affect Her Dominions

WASHINGTON—The biggest economic issue in Europe's Common Market negotiations arises from the fact that France and the Common Market fundamentalists in Brussels, Bonn and Rome say that to be admitted, Britain must open her market to French agriculture and in effect close it to Australia and New Zealand, North and South America.

Britain must impose, probably after a transitional period, the agricultural tariff of the Common Market. If Britain does not do this, she may be excluded. Then her industrial exports must face the Common Market's common industrial tariff.

This poses a hard choice both in Paris and London. How much the French will wish to sharpen the issue depends on great political and strategic questions.

There are powerful economic interests in France which, leaving political considerations aside, will press for very hard terms.

FRANCE IS IN the same kind of agricultural revolution which created our own farm problem. French wheat yield per acre has increased more than half over pre-war levels. France not only can feed her people, but also has surpluses to export.

In 1959-'60-'61 France exported about one-eighth of her wheat production of 32 million tons. About a third of that went to Germany.

French farmers, like our own, are a powerful political force. Britain seems a natural market for French agriculture. It would be most difficult for any French government to allow Britain to enjoy cheap food from overseas—excluding French exports to Britain and at the same time, enjoy free run of the common industrial market.

FOR THE BRITISH the admission terms present an agonizing decision. If they must shut out the old dominions, the old political and human allegiance of empire and commonwealth will suffer a painful, if not a fatal, shock.

For a solution, the continentals must move into a much more generous and flexible position. The British are not so hard-pressed that they can be brought to unconditional surrender. Thus the immediate fate of the grand project depends primarily on Paris and Bonn.

For the short run the prospect is gloomy is we expect a full solution in which Britain "joins" the European Community og De Gaulle and Adenauer. This is so difficult that we may count ourselves fortunate if the negotiations are not broken off and if a way is found to continue them, perhaps for some years.

EVENTUALLY, the grand project will, I believe, be realized. America shall be dealing with the bigger realities if we keep our hopes and policies bound up with the will to get on with and to achieve the grand project.

Europe of 1962 is not the permanent and final shape of Europe. It could change in a few months.

(TOMORROW: European political conditions affecting this country.)

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

Expert Knows What He Wants, And Should Be Happy With It

Human nature being what it is, you may not be happy if you get exactly what you want. One of the reasons for this sad state of affairs is that so few of us know what is good for us. Bridge experts are, of course, superior beings and don't suffer from this complaint.

Opening lead — ♠ Q

When this hand was played, South was an ordinary human being, poor fellow. He hoped for the wrong thing and had the misfortune to get his wish.

HOPING TO STEAL

South won the first trick with the ace of spades and drew three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy. Then he led a low diamond from dummy, hoping to steal a trick with his singleton king.

West didn't think he could defeat the slam by taking the ace of diamonds; and this view was eminently correct.

For lack of anything better to do, West refused the trick.

This gave South exactly what he had hoped for. He had managed to steal a trick with the king of diamonds.

HAPPINESS SHORT

South's happiness was short lived. He had the pleasure of snickering at his opponents for losing their ace of diamonds, but they had the pleasure of scoring 50 points for defeating the slam. South huffed and puffed, but he had to give up two spade tricks.

An expert wouldn't be bothered stealing a trick with the king of diamonds. He knows that he has bid a slam, and he wants nothing less than 12 tricks.

It's all right to draw one round of trumps with the ace, but then you should lead the king of diamonds. Let the opponents take what belongs to them.

If they take the ace of diamonds, everything is easy. If they refuse the trick, you can ruff a low spade with the king of trumps and return to trump to draw two more rounds of trumps. You give up one spade at the end, but the slam is safe against any break.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, May 24. The 144th day of the year with 221 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1626, Peter Minuit, a Dutch trader, bought the Island of Manhattan from the Indians for the equivalent of $24.

In 1856, a party led by the Abolitionist John Brown murdered five pro-slavery men at Pottawatomie, Kan.

In 1941, H.M.S. Hood of the British Navy, the world's largest warship, was sunk by the German battleship Bismarck.

A thought for the day: German philosopher Schopenhauer said: "Every man takes the limits of his own field of vision for the limits of the world."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin Boasts Pretty Unusual, Profitable 'Little' Industries

You never know quite where you will find them — these "little" Marin County industrial firms. And some of them are deceiving in appearance.

One plant, thought to be the only one of its kind in the world, is Colloidal Products Corp., 100 Gate 5 Road, Marinship. Unusual, too.

This firm was established in San Francisco 42 years ago, moved to Marin for more space in 1959, has increased its output several times over since then.

Its products come under the technical classification of "adjuvants in pesticidal formulations." If that is too much of a mouthful it can be clarified as "surface action agents" for use with agricultural chemicals to make them wetter, more adhesive or more penetrating—whatever is needed to make the action more effective.

Colloidal Products manufactures them under its own brands for distributing agents and for about 15 of the nation's major chemical companies under their individual trade name, saving them the trouble of doing it themselves.

IT OCCUPIES a site of more than two acres with about 25,000 square feet under roof, and is one of the "sharpest" looking little plants at Marinship.

"Some chemical companies manufacture 'surfactants' as a sort of sideline, but we are pretty sure we're the only one in the world doing it exclusively. Our market is wherever agricultural products are grown and pesticides are needed. That covers a lot of ground," notes vice president Cecil Miller in charge of research and development. "Formulations are both liquid and dry. We've put in a lot of research over the years and since we know so much about these special chemicals, others are content to let us do the work."

The firm maintains 10 warehouses throughout the United States and sells all over the world. It is a corporation of four principals: Frank A. Brown, its founder; E. H. Littooy, president; Stanley Strew, vice president in charge of marketing, and Miller. All are experienced chemists in their own right and they have another expert with them — Stan Woogerd.

It was once an affiliation of Hercules Glue Co. which caused Sausalito some concern when it proposed to move to the county. But it turned out to be a different kind of glue—the casein kind, made from milk products—not old horses, and there were no smells. However, Hercules was later sold to Adhesive Products in the East Bay, though Colloidal still acts as sales agent.

Just a little industry. I don't think you'd be interested in trying to compete with it.

WHEN CARABAO DRAPERIES moved from 120 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, to the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, Mary and Joe Arena stayed on at the old location to open their own business—known as Arena Associates.

With them is Carroll Glasson of Sausalito, a decorator for many years.

Money Trees

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Investors who are not farmers are getting into tree-farming heavily, the American Farm Products Industries, Inc., reports. A recent study shows that from 10 to 33 per cent of all tree farms now were operated as investments rather than as sidelines to agriculture.

'Science Could Control The World'

By DELOS SMITH
U.P. International

To Dr. Leonard Krasner, a psychological scientist, his science now is all but a sure bet to achieve the ability to control the behavior of people. For Krasner that prospect is alarming because, in his view, his science is not prepared to deal with such awesome power.

Experimental psychology in motivation, conditioning, and personality development has produced "overwhelming evidence" that human behavior is controllable, he said. All that remains to be done is to work out techniques for applying the basic knowledge.

"Psychologists have no choice but to continue their research" which will produce those techniques, he continued. "The findings can be used just as meaningful to help man as to hinder him. The danger is not in the research findings but in their potential misuse."

Krasner was appealing to his fellow psychologists to prepare themselves ethically, morally and, of course, scientifically for the proper exercise of such power.

He appealed to them through a technical organ of the American Psychological Assn.

The immediate danger Krasner anticipated from usable "behavior control" was that psychologists could impose their own values upon other people.

For example, it would be their decision as to what is "good behavior," what is "mental health" and what is "a desirable adjustment."

"The fact that the behavior controllers are professional individuals is no guarantee that behavior control will not be misused," he said.

"We have only to turn to the role of German physicians in medical atrocities as evidence of misuse by a supposedly professional group."

To prepare themselves for the proper use of power, psychologists should experiment psychologically with themselves in order to get at "the basic problem of social and ethical issues involved in behavior control."

In his own psychological laboratory at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Krasner now is planning ways of measuring the attitudes of psychologists toward mental health, "the good life" and the applications of science, he disclosed.

He urges others to study their "attitudes and fantasies" toward their potential role as controllers.

Psychologists "cannot avoid facing the issues of values," he said, even though it is true that at the present moment no psychologist can modify any person's behavior in any way the psychologist wishes.

But the reason he can't is "primarily because research into the techniques of control thus far is at the elementary stage.

"Science moves at a very rapid pace, however, and now is the time to concern ourselves with this problem before basic knowledge about techniques overwhelms us."

Is Oil Business Picking Up Or Being Crippled By Government?

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press

The oil business is getting healthier—so say bankers looking at their loan portfolios.

The industry is being crippled by federal trade policies, with a threat to national security as a possible consequence—so say many oilmen with holding in Texas and neighboring states.

International oil companies and their supplies will be hurt by federal tax proposals—so say some of them.

And in and out of the oil business, there are some who say the real trouble—quite aside from any current administration policy toward business—goes back to overenthusiasm during the Suez Canal crisis.

When Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser cut off Europe's supplies from the Middle East a few years back, the oil business here boomed to make up the deficit.

"We overdrilled, overbuilt both refineries and pipelines," says one Dallas business leader. "Now we are paying for it in idle facilities and a drop of orders for new equipment."

Dallas bankers say loans to the oil industry reached a peak right after the Suez crisis, dipped slightly when the canal reopened, but now are coming back in percentage of total loans—meaning more normal times in the oil fields and refineries.

Oilmen without wells in foreign lands think today's troubles could be solved if the federal government would cut oil imports further to encourage more drilling and production at home.

They stress that if war should cut off foreign sources, we'd need our local capacity bad.

A tax proposal before the Congress also worries Texans. This calls for taxation of total income of subsidiaries abroad.

At present only that part of earnings that returns to these shores as profits or dividends is taxed.

"Taxing all income of our overseas subsidiary could cut back our exports," says H. Neil Mallon, chairman of the executive committee of Dresser Industries, maker and exporter of oil field supplies.

"This would kill the very thing President John F. Kennedy is working for in his trade bill—increased U.S. exports."

Mallon reasons that if Dresser's Swiss-based foreign sales subsidiary is taxed on all its earnings, rather than on what it returns to the parent company in dividends, it woud be hard put to compete with manufacturers in other lands where tax laws are more favorable.

The U. S. Treasury argument is that the proposed tax law would catch any tax dodgers who may be setting up sham subsidiaries abroad.

Mallon says his company's overseas operations and those of most other U.S. companies aren't in that class.

Marin Printer Back Tax Paid

The new owner of the Marin Printer in Sausalito, paid $302 in delinquent personal property tax yesterday, explaining he does not want to embarrass the Marin Printer's former owner, who is running for public office.

Jack Lentz, who bought the printing establishment from Gordon W. Strawbridge last year, said the tax was entirely his, but he had merely put off payment until yesterday. In the tax records, the legal owner was still listed as Strawbridge.

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—The Normandy bar advertised for a cocktail waitress who could slide down a fire-house pole and was a college graduate.

But why the college education?

"So she can make change," said Truss.

Mrs. Jules Becker of Ross and Albert Gately of Fairfax, co-chairmen for the Marin County Cranston for Controller Campaign Committee, today announced the appointment of A. J. Nieri as campaign treasurer.

San Rafael High Girl Scholarship Recipient

San Rafael High School student Jeanette Krebs, of San Rafael, is a winner of a $250 scholarship awarded by the Marin County Parent-Teacher Assn. scholarship committee.

The name of Sidney Diehl was incorrectly listed in place of Miss Krebs as the recipient of the scholarship in an Independent-Journal story Tuesday. Mrs. Sidney Diehl of San Rafael is chairman of the committee which chose six high school seniors for the P-TA awards, reported Mrs. Richard DeLew, committee secretary.

Sausalito Fire Chief Commended

The Sausalito City Council Tuesday thanked Fire Chief Mathew J. Perry, city firemen and volunteers, including a dozen teen-agers, who assisted in quelling the fire Monday night which took the life of Mrs. Mary Agnes Herscowitz.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk, making the proposal, suggested the chief be complimented for "the extremely efficient way of fire fighting . . . and the efforts made to bring the fire under control. I also think," said Dyk, the firemen and volunteers and the 12 to 15 teen-agers should be thanked. They did a tremendous job."

A SOUL AT STAKE—Anthony White (left) as God, and Charles Eisler as Satan, argue over the soul of Job in a rehearsal scene from Archibald MacLeish's Pulitzer prize play, "J.B.," being presented at 8 p. m. today, tomorrow and Saturday at College of Marin Little Theater. Eisler, sophomore liberal arts major, also directs the play.

College Players Presents J. B.

College of Marin players will experiment with student direction in their final spring drama, "J. B.," to be presented at 8 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday in the college's Little Theater.

Charles Eisler, sophomore liberal arts major, will direct the show and play the role of Satan in Archibald MacLeish's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, a modern adaptation of the Biblical "Book of Job."

Eisler, of 292 North Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, hopes to make directing a career. Besides acting and directing, Eisler plays four musical instruments, sings, dances and has ice skated professionally.

"J. B." is the story of two unemployed actors who dramatize the sufferings of Job in modern dress, casting themselves as God and Satan.

Job appears as J. B., an American businessman.

Among the cast are students Anthony White as Mr. Zeus; John Lewis as J. B., and Lani Moore as Sarah.

Marin GOP Meets On Finances

The Marin County Republican Central Committee wound up its final meeting before the June primaries with a private discussion of finances and plans for summer campaigning.

The committee will sponsor two fund raising dinners after the election and ask Marin Republicans to participate in a $100 Cow Palace dinner. Dates for the three banquets have not been set.

New president of the Teen-Age Republicans in Marin, David Chuche of San Rafael, was introduced during the meeting. Chuche replaces James Heynemann of Belvedere, who presided for a year.

The Young Republicans of Marin will sponsor a candidates' booth at the Marin Art and Garden Fair in July. A second booth will be sponsored by the Marin unit of the Republican Alliance.
